By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

B. A. Collins,
Private Secretary.

Darjeeling;
the 30th June 1908.

On the day so fixed the Collector shall take into his consideration the objections, if any, to the enumeration of staple food-crops proposed in the notice; and shall report his opinion thereon to the Board of Revenue.

The Board of Revenue shall submit the Collector's opinion to the Local Government, with such remarks as may seem to them necessary.

The Local Government, after considering the reports of the Collector and the Board of Revenue, shall determine and notify in the Calcutta Gazette what shall be deemed staple food-crops in each local area.

Until further orders the crops shown in column 3 of Schedule II hereto appended shall be deemed staple food-crops for the purposes of section 39.

Dates for preparation of price-lists

6. Price-lists of staple food-crops shall be prepared on one market-day in the month at intervals of not less than twenty days. This market-day shall be selected by the Collector, subject to the control of the Board of Revenue.

Method of determining prices.

7. The price recorded for each staple food-crop shall be the prevailing retail price at which that crop was actually sold in the mart to which the price-list refers on the day selected under the last preceding rule.

Price-lists—by whom to be prepared.

8. (1) Price-lists shall ordinarily be prepared by a gazetted officer not below the rank of a Sub-Deputy Collector. But in special cases where a Sub-Deputy Collector is not available, the Collector may authorize a kanungo to prepare the lists.

(2) Where prices are recorded at marts, other than those at the head-quarters of districts, the Collector may, with the sanction of the Commissioner, authorize a Sub-Registrar to prepare the lists on days when no gazetted officer or kanungo is available.

(3) One or two respectable inhabitants of the locality shall always be asked to assist in the preparation of price-lists, and the list shall be signed by at least one of them as well as by the officer preparing it.

Record to be kept by officer preparing price-lists.

9. Every officer charged with the preparation of price-lists shall keep a record showing, as far as practicable,—

(a) the date of his visit to the mart at which prices are to be recorded;

(b) the names of vendors and purchasers, the quantities sold, and the price thereof, for any sales effected in his presence.

Scrutiny and countersignature of price-lists prepared by sub-ordinate officer.

10. When price-lists are prepared at the sadar sub-division by an officer other than a Covenanted Deputy Collector, or at other sub-divisions by an officer subordinate to the Sub-divisional Officer, or by a Sub-Registrar, they shall be submitted to the Covenanted Deputy Collector, or to a Deputy Collector specially nominated by the Collector for the purpose, or to the Sub-divisional Officer, as the case may be. Such officer shall scrutinize the lists; he may call for explanation and cause manifest errors to be corrected; and, having satisfied himself of the accuracy of the lists, he shall countersign them.

Publication of price-lists.

11. The price-lists shall be published for not less than one week at the marts to which they respectively refer, at the Collector's or Sub-divisional Office, and at every police-station and munsifi in the local area.

Submission of price-lists to Board.

12. After the expiry of the term of publication of the price-lists in the mart to which they refer, as mentioned in the last preceding rule, the lists shall be submitted to the Board with any objections made to them, and with the opinions of the officers who prepared and countersigned them, and of the Collector, on such objections.

CHAPTER III.—LANDLORDS' IMPROVEMENTS.

Application for registration of improvement to whom to be presented.

13. Section 80.—An application for the registration of a landlord's improvement may be presented to the Collector of the district or to the officer in charge of the sub-division in which the land benefited by the improvement is situated, or to any

Assistant or Deputy Collector who may be specially appointed by the Government to receive such application. It shall, as far as practicable, be in the form (Form 1) specified in Schedule I appended to these rules, and five copies shall be submitted in respect of each village benefited.

Procedure of officer receiving application.

14. The officer receiving the application shall fix a date for hearing objections to the same. He shall send, by registered letter, copies of the application, with intimation of the date so fixed, to those of the tenants in each village whose names are mentioned in column 8 of the application. He shall also give notice to the tenants generally by beat of drum and by causing a copy of the application and notice of the date, fixed for hearing objections thereto, to be fixed up in the presence of not less than two persons in some conspicuous place in every such village.

The expenses of such service and publication shall be borne by the applicant for registration.

Local inquiry.

15. The officer may make over the application to any of his subordinates, not being below the rank of a Sub-Deputy Collector, for local inquiry and report, and shall in that case fix a date for hearing the report, and shall cause such date to be notified to the parties concerned in the manner set forth in rule 14. The inquiry shall be limited to the ascertainment of the fact whether the work in question is really an improvement; whether any enhancement of rent is being paid for the original improvement; and whether the cost of the improvement has been correctly stated in the application.

Hearing of parties to application.

16. On the date so fixed, or on any date to which the proceedings may be adjourned, the officer shall hear summarily such of the parties and their witnesses as may attend, and shall consider any report submitted to him under rule 15. He shall then decide whether the work is an improvement, and whether the landlord is entitled to register it, and shall accordingly order it to be registered with such modifications of the figure in column 6 of the application as he may deem fit, or shall refuse registration. If the work is fit to be registered as an improvement, the officer shall record whether any enhancement of rent is being paid for the original improvement, and, if so, how much.

Saving.

17. Nothing hereinbefore contained shall preclude the officer receiving the application from holding a local inquiry in person, and from ordering the improvement to be registered, or refusing registration in accordance with the result of the inquiry so held.

Confirmation of order passed by officer lower in rank than Collector.

18. If an order refusing to register an improvement is passed by an officer lower in rank than the Collector of the district, such order shall not take effect until confirmed by the Collector of the district.

CHAPTER IV.—RECORD OF PROPRIETORS' PRIVATE LANDS.

Application for record of Proprietors' Private Lands, to whom to be made.

20. Section 118.—Applications under section 118 may be made to the Collector of the district, or to the officer in charge of the sub-division in which the land in question is situated, or to any Assistant or Deputy Collector specially empowered by Government to receive such applications. If the application is made to the Collector of the district, he may transfer it for disposal to any officer empowered by Government to receive it.

Signature of, and particulars to be contained in, application.

21. The application shall be signed by the party making it, and shall contain the following particulars, so far as the applicant is able to furnish them: —

(a) the name, tauzi number, and Government revenue of the estate;

(b) the names of the registered proprietors, and the share held by each;

(c) the specification of each plot of land referred to in the application, showing the village in which it is situated and the area and boundaries of each plot, if known;

(d) the names of the tenants (if any) in occupation of each such plot; and (e) the grounds of the application.

Inquiry on receipt of application.

22. On receipt of the application the officer shall make such inquiry as he may think fit by examining the applicant or his agent, and may call for further particulars before ordering further proceedings.

Measurement of lands where necessary, and deposit of cost thereof.

23. If the area of the lands has not been already ascertained by measurement made by competent agency under the authority of Government, or if for sufficient reason a further measurement is considered desirable, the officer shall order the lands to be measured and shall estimate the cost of measurement in accordance with the rules for the time being in force for the measurement of lands in partition cases, and shall require the applicant to deposit the amount either at once or in such instalments as he may deem fit.

The transferee may, if he thinks fit, apply for service of the notice to the Court having jurisdiction to entertain a suit for arrears of rent of the holding, and the Court shall thereupon serve the notice as hereinbefore prescribed, on payment of the process-fee prescribed by the High Court.

He shall then submit his proceedings to the Board, through such superior authorities as the Board may prescribe; and such area as the Board may, after such further inquiry as may be deemed necessary, declare to be included in a village shall be adopted as the unit of survey and record-of-rights:

45. A field map of every village shall be prepared. It shall show the boundaries of every field separately held, or of such plot of land as the instructions of the Board of Revenue for giving effect to these rules may lay down.

C.—Khanapuri, i.e., Preliminary Preparation of the Record.

Documents to be prepared in course of survey and preparation of record-of-rights.

46. The following are the principal documents to be prepared in the course of a survey and the preparation of a record-of-rights under Chapter X of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885:—

Village map.	Khewat.
Khasra.	Khatian.
Parcha.	Terij.

These and any other papers prescribed by the Board of Revenue shall be prepared in such manner as the Board may prescribe.

Record-of-rights.

47. The record-of-rights, which shall be published under section 103A of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, shall be contained in the khewat and the khatian and such other papers as may be specified by general or special order of the Board of Revenue in the case of any local area.

Proprietary khewat.

48. (a) The proprietary khewat shall show the character and extent of proprietary interests. It shall be first drawn up with reference to the registers maintained by the Collector under the provisions of the Land Registration Act, 1876 (Ben. Act VII of 1876). As the record-writing proceeds, the proprietary khewat shall be altered in accordance with the facts of possession. The Settlement Officer shall, from time to time, under such instructions as the Board of Revenue may prescribe in this behalf, give information to the Collector of all alterations made in the khewat, and the Collector shall thereupon take action to make such corrections as may be necessary in his registers prepared under the Land Registration Act. If the Collector, after inquiry under the Land Registration Act, finds that any entry in the khewat is incorrect, a note shall be made in the khewat of his finding.

(b) A khewat shall ordinarily be prepared to show the character and extent of the interest of tenure-holders, such of their interests as are of a raiyati nature being also recorded in the khatian.

Khatian.

49. (a) The khatian shall show in detail for all the lands of the village, estate by estate, landlord by landlord, tenant by tenant, and occupant by occupant, the lands included in each estate owned by each landlord and occupied by each tenant or occupant, with particulars of rent and area and of the incidents of each tenancy.

D.—Attestation of the Record.

Attestation.

50. (a) When the map, khasra, khewat and khatian for a village have been prepared in the manner prescribed by these rules and by instructions of the Board of Revenue consistent with them, the Revenue-officer shall issue a notification in the form (Form 10) given in Schedule I, fixing a day, which shall be not less than a week from the date of publication of the notification, on which he will be present at some place to be specified at or near the village, for the purpose of attesting and completing the record-of-rights.

(b) The notification shall further state that on the day so fixed, or on any other day to which the proceedings may be adjourned, the Revenue-officer will record rents and status and deal with objections relating to entries in the record or omissions therefrom; and it shall require all parties interested in the subject-matter of the inquiry to attend at the time and place specified, with their parchas, and with such evidence as they have to offer in connection with the proceedings.

(c) Such notification shall be published by proclamation and beat of drum, and fixed up, in the presence of not less than two persons, in some conspicuous place in the village to which it refers.

Measures to procure attendance of parties.

51. The Revenue-officer may also, if he deem fit, take such additional measures under the powers conferred on him by rule 40, as he may deem desirable to procure the attendance, at the place specified in the notification issued under the last preceding rule, of the occupants, under-raiyats, raiyats, tenure-holders, landlords and proprietors or their authorized agents.

Inquiry as to correctness of entries.

52. On the date specified in the notification issued under rule 50, or on any other date to which the proceedings may be adjourned, the entries which have been made in the khewat and in each khatian shall be read out in the presence of such of the interested parties as are in attendance.

If the correctness of any entry is questioned, the Revenue-officer shall dispose of the objection after local inquiry or otherwise:

Provided that if the correctness of the measurement be objected to, and a fresh measurement be demanded, the Revenue-officer may require the cost of the re-measurement to be deposited.

If the measurement shows the original measurement to have been inaccurate, the amount deposited, or any portion of it, may, if the Revenue-officer thinks fit, be refunded to the objector.

Inquiry as to fixed rates or fixed rents.

53. The Revenue-officer shall ascertain what tenants claim the right to hold at fixed rates or fixed rents, explaining, as far as may be necessary, the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, in this respect. If the right claimed is disputed by the landlord, the Revenue-officer shall call on the claimants for proofs of such right. If on the evidence produced the Revenue-officer is satisfied that the tenants have the rights they claim, he shall record them as raiyats at fixed rates of rent, or a fixed rent, as the case may be.

Inquiry as to settled and occupancy raiyats.

54. The Revenue-officer shall ascertain which of the raiyats are settled raiyats, or occupancy raiyats, as the case be, and shall record them as such, having regard to the presumption of section 20 (7) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885.

Inquiry as to non-occupancy raiyats.

55. The Revenue-officer shall ascertain what raiyats are non-occupancy, and to this end he shall be entitled to call upon the landlord or his agent to produce a statement showing the names of the raiyats alleged by him to be non-occupancy raiyats. On the production of such statement, the Revenue-officer shall explain to the raiyats whose names are entered in the statement, and who have not already been recorded as occupancy or settled raiyats, the nature of the presumption raised by section 20 (7) of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885. If, after such explanation, a raiyat admits himself to be a non-occupancy raiyat, he shall be recorded as such. If he does not admit himself to be a non-occupancy raiyat, the Revenue-officer shall call on the landlord to prove the allegation made by him in regard to such raiyat.

Abwabs and cesses.

56. Abwabs shall not be recorded. Cesses which are authorized by law shall be recorded separately from the rent in the khatian, or, in the case of tenure-holders, in the khewat.

Ascertainment and record of rent at present payable.

57. The Revenue-officer shall summarily ascertain the rent at present payable by the tenant, and record it in the appropriate column of the khatian as the rent payable in respect of the land held by the tenant.

Agreement between landlord and tenant as to rent to be recorded.

58. If, while the record is being prepared, the landlord and tenant agree as to the rent which shall be recorded as payable, the Revenue officer, if he has been vested with powers under section 109 C of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, as amended by Bengal Act I of 1907, may, if he is satisfied that the rent agreed upon is fair and equitable, but not otherwise, settle such rent as a fair and equitable rent, although the terms of the agreement are such that, if they were embodied in a contract, they could not be enforced under the Bengal Tenancy Act.

Procedure where Revenue-officer not vested with powers under section 109 C.

59. If the Revenue-officer has not been vested with powers under section 109C, he may, if he considers that the provisions of that section should be applied in respect of the rent of any tenure or holding, submit a report to any Revenue-officer who has been vested with powers under section 109C in the local area for which the record-of-rights is being prepared; and such Revenue-officer, after giving notice to the landlord and tenant, and after such further inquiry as he may deem necessary, may, if he is satisfied that the rent agreed upon by the landlord and tenant is fair and equitable, but not otherwise, settle such rent as a fair and equitable rent, although the terms of the agreement are such that, if they were embodied in a contract, they could not be enforced under the Bengal Tenancy Act.

Form of proceedings and entry of rents settled or revised.

60. Proceedings for the settlement of rents under section 109C shall be drawn up in such form as the Board of Revenue may prescribe; and all rents settled under clause (1), section 109C, or revised by the Board of Revenue under clause (3), section 109C, shall be entered in the record-of-rights.

Proceeding on completion of attestation and publication of draft record.

61. When the record-of-rights has been prepared and attested in the manner prescribed in Rules 50 to 57, and when the record shall have been arranged and corrected in accordance with the orders which the Revenue-officer may have passed, he shall record a proceeding in which he shall state that attestation of the records of the village has been completed, and shall then cause the draft record-of-rights to be published in the village in the manner provided in Rule 62.

E.—Publication of the Draft Record.

Publication and hearing.

62. (a) As soon as the record-of-rights has been prepared and attested, a notice in Form 11 in Schedue I shall be posted up at the landlord's office in the village, and, in the presence of not less than two persons, in some other conspicuous place in the village, or, where the village is uninhabited, in the village in which most of the cultivators of the uninhabited village reside, stating that the draft of the record will be published in the village on a day to be specified, not less than a week from the date of the posting of such notice, and calling on all persons interested to attend on the date so specified:

Provided that the draft of the record shall not be published until the proceeding under Rule 61 has been recorded.

(b) On the date fixed for the publication of the draft record, the Revenue-officer shall either proceed to the village himself and read the contents of the record in the presence of the parties who attend, or he shall depute an officer who shall read out the contents of the record in the presence of as many of the parties as attend; and the Revenue-officer, or the officer deputed by him, as the case may be, shall at the same time inform the parties who attend that the draft record will be open for inspection for not less than one month in the office of the Revenue-officer, or in such other convenient place as the Revenue-officer may determine.

Any objection which may be made to any entry during the period named shall be received and considered by the Revenue-officer

Objections shall, as far as practicable, be made in Form 12 given in Schedule I.

F.—Disposal of Objections under section 105A.

63. When an objection is made within and before the expiry of the period of publication of the draft record prescribed under Rule 62 (b), regarding the correctness of an entry, or as to the propriety of any omission, notice of the objection (in Form 13, Schedule I), shall be served on all persons whose interest may, in the opinion of the Revenue-officer, be affected thereby, and they shall be called upon to attend at such time and place as the Revenue-officer may fix for the disposal of the objection.

If no person attends to contest the objection, and the Revenue-officer is satisfied that the notice of the objection has been duly served on all persons interested, the objection may be allowed and the record amended accordingly, or the person who made the objection may, if the Revenue-officer thinks fit, be called upon to produce evidence in support of his objection.

All such objections shall be dealt with summarily, under such instructions as the Board of Revenue may prescribe.

G.—Settlement of Fair Rents in cases in which a Settlement of Revenue is being, or is about to be, made.

Report to Government where it is not necessary to settle rents of all classes of tenants in a Government Estate.

64. If it does not appear to the Revenue-officer expedient to settle the rents of tenants of every class in an estate or tenure belonging to the Government, the Revenue-officer shall submit a report for the orders of the Government under the proviso to section 104 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, as amended by Bengal Act I of 1907.

Service of notice of settlement of rents

65. In the case of a settlement of fair rents under Part II of Chapter X of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, when a settlement of revenue is being, or is about to be, made, the Revenue-officer shall serve a notice by proclamation and beat of drum, and by posting it, in the presence of not less than two persons, in some conspicuous place in the village comprising the lands under settlement.

The notice shall be in Form 14 in Schedule I and shall set forth that, on a date named and at a place named, the Revenue-officer will settle fair rents in respect of all estates, tenures or holdings, and for unsettled lands included in such village. A schedule may, when the Revenue-officer thinks fit, be appended to the notice, giving such particulars as he may think necessary relating to the names and numbers of all estates, tenures, and holdings paying revenue or rent to Government, and of unsettled lands for which rent will be settled. Such notice shall be served at least one week previous to the date fixed for settlement of fair rents. When such notice has been served, it shall be held that all persons have, subject to the provisions of Rule 73, been sufficiently warned of the date fixed:

Provided that in cases in which a table of rates is prepared under the provisions of section 101B, the notice shall not be published until the table of rates has been confirmed under sub-section (5) of that section.

Table of rates where necessary.

66. A table of rates shall not ordinarily be prepared when it is found that the tenants of the local area in question hold their lands at lump rentals, and no rates actually exist, or when the rates are so numerous and varied, and are so little dependent on the class of soil, that no table of existing rates can be prepared. When the above conditions do not obtain, and it is possible to prepare a table of existing rates which are generally of a uniform character and in accordance with certain ascertainable classes of soil, a table of rates may be prepared in accordance with the provisions of section 104A (c):

Provided that when the Revenue-officer is of opinion, for reasons to be recorded by him in writing, and submitted to, and approved by, the authority empowered to confirm the table of rates, that the rents stated as the existing rents by the landlord and tenants are not the rents that are legally payable, and that it is impossible to ascertain those rents, a table of rates fairly and equitably payable may be prepared and shall be based on the rates or rents payable in those neighbouring villages, the lands of which are fairly comparable with the lands of the village.

Preparation of table of rates.

67. When the Revenue-officer has decided to settle rents in any local area on the basis of a table of rates, under section 104A (c), he shall first prepare a table of existing rates and shall then either maintain those rates or shall proceed to enhance or reduce them, having regard to the general principles laid down in the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, for the enhancement or reduction of rents, and especially to section 30 (b), (c) and (d).

Contents of table of rates.

68. The table of rates finally prepared by the Revenue-officer and published by him under section 104B (2) shall contain the particulars noted in section 104B (1), and shall show :—

(a) the classes of land, as locally known, that have been adopted in the fixation of rates ;

(b) the area, expressed in local measure, for which each rate is fixed ;

(c) the existing rates, if any, taken as the basis of the table of rates ; and

(d) the rates of rent fixed as fairly and equitably payable by tenants holding land of each class whose rent is liable to alteration.

Publication of table of rates.

69. (a) When a table of rates has been prepared under section 104B, a notice in Form 15 in Schedule I shall be posted up in the landlord's office in the village or, in the presence of not less than two persons, in some conspicuous place in the village, stating that the table of rates will be published in the village on a day to be specified, not less than a week from the date of the posting of such notice, and calling on all persons interested to attend on the date so specified.

(b) On the date fixed for the publication of the table of rates, the Revenue-officer shall proceed to the village and shall explain to so many of the parties as attend the proposed rates and the grounds on which they are based, and shall hear and consider any objections that may be raised to any entries in the table. He shall at the same time inform the parties who attend that the table of rates will be open to inspection for not less than one month in the office of the Revenue-officer, or in such other convenient place as the Revenue-officer may determine, and that any person who objects to any entry in the table of rates may present a petition to him on the subject, within one month of the date of the publication of the table of rates, which will be duly considered under section 104B (3).

Record of grounds of order.

70. The Revenue-officer shall record the grounds of his final order in every case in which he disposes of an objection to a table of rates under section 104B (4).

Submission of proceedings to confirming authority.

71. In submitting his proceedings to the confirming authority under section 104B (4), the Revenue-officer shall describe the land classification adopted by him for the purposes of his table of rates, and shall show in tabular form the rates which were found by him to exist for the classes of land described, and the rates he proposes to substitute for the existing rates, explaining in each case his grounds for maintaining, enhancing or reducing the rates.

Confirming authorities.

72. (a) The following Revenue Authorities are empowered, under section 104B (4), to confirm tables of rates prepared under the Bengal Tenancy Act :—

(i) when the total rents to which the table of rates is to be applied will not, in the opinion of the Revenue-officer, exceed Rs. 1,000, the Collector of the District ;

(ii) when the total rents in question will, in the opinion of the Revenue-officer, exceed Rs. 1,000, but will not exceed Rs. 5,000, the Commissioner of the Division ; and

(iii) when the total rents in question will, in the opinion of the Revenue-officer, exceed Rs. 5,000, the Board of Revenue.

(b) The following Revenue Authorities are empowered, under section 104B (4), to confirm Settlement Rent-Rolls prepared under the Bengal Tenancy Act :—

(i) in all cases in which the Settlement Rent-Roll has been prepared by an Assistant Settlement Officer, and the Settlement Officer is of the rank of a Collector, the Settlement Officer ; and (ii) in all other cases the Collector or other Revenue Authority to whom the Settlement Officer is declared by the Board of Revenue to be immediately subordinate.

Settlement of fair rents.

73. On the date fixed in the notice issued under rule 65 above, or on any subsequent date to which the proceedings may be adjourned, the Revenue-officer shall read, or cause to be read aloud in his presence, the name of each tenant whose rent has to be settled, the area of his tenancy, and the existing rent, and shall proceed to settle a fair rent for every such tenant under the provisions of section 104A (1), (a), (b), (d) or section 104C:

Provided that when a Revenue-officer proposes to alter an existing rent, and the parties have not attended in compliance with the general notice prescribed in rule 65 above, the Revenue-officer shall serve each person interested with a special notice, and the fair rent shall not be settled in the absence of such person until after due service of such special notice has been proved.

Contents of Settlement Rent-Roll.

74. The Settlement Rent-Roll shall contain the particulars prescribed in section 104A (2), and the fair rent settled for each tenant shall be entered in it by the Revenue-officer himself at the time that such rent is settled.

Publication of Settlement Rent-Roll and filing of objections.

75. As soon as the Settlement Rent-Roll has been prepared, it shall be published by a notice in Form 16 in Schedule I in the manner prescribed for the publication of the Draft Record in rule 62, and the Revenue-officer or the officer deputed by him to read out the contents of the Settlement Rent-Roll, as the case may be, shall at the same time inform the parties who attend that the Settlement Rent-Roll will be open to inspection for not less than one month in the office of the Revenue-officer, or in such other convenient place as the Revenue-officer may determine, and that any person who objects to any entry in the Settlement Rent-Roll or omission therefrom may present a petition to the Revenue-officer on the subject within one month of the date of the publication of the Settlement Rent-Roll, which will be duly considered under section 104E.

Method of dealing with objections. Appeal.

76. All objections presented under rule 69 or rule 75 shall be dealt with in accordance with the provisions of rule 63 in the same way as objections presented under section 103A. An appeal presented under section 104G (1) shall lie to the officer to whom the Revenue-officer who has passed the order appealed against is immediately subordinate:

Provided that a second appeal shall lie from any order on appeal settling the amount of a fair rent passed by a Settlement Officer or Collector under this rule to the Commissioner of the Division, and that, when the proposed annual rental of any tenancy exceeds 100 rupees per annum, a final appeal shall, in all such cases, lie to the Board of Revenue.

Incorporation of Settlement Rent-Roll in record-of-rights.

77. As soon as the Settlement Rent-Roll has been sanctioned by the Confirming Authority, it shall be incorporated in the record-of-rights by the entry of the fair rents settled in a column of the khatian to be set apart for that purpose.

Rules 65 to 77 to apply to a settlement of rents under section 112 of the Bengal Tenancy Act.

78. Rules 65 to 77 (both inclusive) shall apply, so far as may be, to a settlement of rents under section 112 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, as amended by Bengal Act I of 1907.

II.—Final publication of the Record-of-rights.

Final publication of record-of-rights.

79. When all objections under section 103A have been disposed of, as provided for in rule 63 above, and, in cases in which a settlement of revenue is being, or is about to be, made, the Settlement Rent-Roll has been incorporated in the record-of-rights, as provided in rule 77, and the Revenue-officer has corrected the draft record in accordance with the orders passed by him on such objections or in the course of the preparation of the Settlement Rent-Roll, he shall finally frame the record and cause it to be published by notifying, in the form shown in Form 17 in Schedule I, that its contents will be read out in the village, or, when the village is uninhabited, in the village in which most of the cultivators of the uninhabited village reside, on a date to be specified, not less than a week from the date of the publication of such notice, and by reading it out himself or causing it to be read in the village on the date so specified, in the manner prescribed in rule 62, in the presence of the parties or of as many of them as attend.

Report to Local Government after final publication.

81. When all the records-of-rights in any local area have been finally published, the Revenue-officer shall submit a report to the Local Government, containing such particulars as may be necessary, in order to enable the Local Government to issue a notification under sub-section (2) of section 103B of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, as amended by Bengal Act I of 1907.

I.—Distribution of copies of the Record-of-rights to Parties interested.

81. (a) The Revenue-officer shall cause to be made a copy of, or extract from, the record-of-rights as finally published in accordance with rule 70, and this copy or extract shall bear a certificate, under the Revenue-officer's signature and seal, that it is a copy of, or extract from, the record-of-rights as finally published. The copy or extract shall be made over to the landlord concerned, or, where there are more landlords than one, to their common agent or common manager, as the case may be, or, if there be no common agent or common manager, to such person among the landlords as the Revenue-officer may think fit.

When payment is required, the sums so recovered shall be adjusted against the expenses incurred on account of survey and settlement.

(e) If the Local Government so directs, copies of the maps shall be prepared and distributed to the landlords and tenants concerned, and in such a case the foregoing rules regarding copies of, or extracts from, the record shall apply to such copies of the maps.

Proceedings for settlement of fair rents.

82. When the landlord or tenant applies for the settlement of a fair rent, he shall be considered as plaintiff and the opposite party as defendant. Provided that, if at any time it appears to the Revenue-officer that the question between any two of the parties, of whom one is so joined with others, cannot conveniently be so jointly tried, he may order a separate trial to be held of that question, or he may pass such order, in accordance with the Code of Civil Procedure, for the joint or separate disposal of the application as he may think fit.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT ON EMIGRATION FROM THE PORT OF CALCUTTA TO BRITISH AND FOREIGN COLONIES DURING THE YEAR 1907.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EMIGRATION.

Darjeeling, the 22nd June 1907.

RESOLUTION—No. 1162T.—G.

READ—

The Annual Report on Emigration from the Port of Calcutta to British and Foreign Colonies during the year 1907.

Dr. C. Banks held the post of Protector of Emigrants from the 1st January to the 11th April and again from the 20th November to the close of the year. During the intervening period Dr. W. Forsyth was in charge from April 12th to April 16th, and Dr. Hendley from April 17th until Dr. Banks rejoined.

2. Seven Emigration Agencies were at work during the year, six representing the British Colonies and one the Dutch Colony of Surinam. The total number of emigrants requisitioned was 8,415 as against 13,277 in 1906, the falling off in the demand for labourers being particularly noticeable in the case of Natal, for which the figures were 456 as compared with 3,640 in the previous year. The decreased demand for labour naturally led to a corresponding falling off in the number of emigrants registered, the figures being 13,160, or 10,176 less than in the year 1906. As in previous years, the majority (85·12 per cent.) of the emigrants were recruited in the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, the districts of Fyazabad, Basti and Gorakpur supplying the largest number. Of the 13,229 emigrants admitted into the sub-depôts, 2,278 were rejected as unfit to emigrate, and of the rest 10,214 arrived in the depôts at Garden Reach. This number was increased to 11,292 mainly by the addition of 792 emigrants who remained over from the previous year and of 273 invalids who were re-admitted from hospital after recovery. Rejections, releases and other causes, however, brought down the figures to 8,290, and finally only 7,178 emigrants were sent to the Colonies, the remainder (1,112) being left for subsequent despatch. The figures show a decrease in comparison with the statistics for 1905 and 1906, when 9,322 and 14,035 emigrants respectively embarked for the Colonies. The largest number of emigrants (1,795) was received by Trinidad and the smallest (456) by Natal. The Protector reports that there was not much difficulty in securing recruits, owing no doubt to the continued high prices of food-grains in the recruiting districts.

3. The sanitary arrangement in the depôts were satisfactory. The total number of emigrants admitted to hospital was 996, of whom 84 died, the corresponding figures for 1906 being 1,618 admissions and 139 deaths. The largest number of deaths, viz., 36, was due to cerebro-spinal meningitis, though the number of cases fell from 81 in 1906 to 49 in 1907. With a view to diminishing the mortality in emigration depôts due to this disease, orders were issued during the year for the prompt submission of information to the Emigration Agents of the occurrence of any case in the recruiting districts, in order that, if necessary, recruitment might be suspended in affected areas, or that, at least, recruits from such areas should be subjected to special surveillance.

4. Four thousand two hundred and twelve emigrants returned from the Colonies during 1907, bringing with them savings amounting to Rs. 7,53,016-0-9, the average for each emigrant being Rs. 178-12-5 as compared with Rs. 159-8-8 per head in the preceding year. On the other hand, as many as 1,495, or 35·49 per cent. of the total number of returned emigrants, came back with no savings at all. Of this number, however, 845 were children. As in previous years, the immigrants in Natal sent the largest remittances by money-orders, the total amount so sent being Rs. 9,95,603-12.

5. The scale of medicines, medical comforts and Miscellaneous medical stores, to be carried on emigrant ships, was revised during the year. The period for which steamships conveying emigrants to the West Indian Colonies have by rule to be provisioned, which had hitherto been 13 weeks, was in January 1907 reduced to 12 weeks in the case of voyage from Calcutta to Jamaica and 11 weeks in the case of the other Colonies. In consequence of the trouble and inconvenience caused by the presence of insane persons on emigrant ships, a new rule was introduced during the year requiring the provision of a separate compartment on board ship for persons who may become insane or violent and obstreperous during the voyage. The Colonial Governments were also requested to issue instructions to prevent the repatriation, without the permission of the Surgeon-Superintendent, of immigrants who had shown signs of insanity during the 12 months previous to the date of embarkation.

6. The question whether the Protector of Emigrants was entitled to refuse to license recruiters who were under age, was raised during the year. It was finally decided that he had power to refuse a license to any person whom he might consider unfit either on account of his youth or for any other reason.

7. The accounts of the Emigration fund show that the receipts and the charges amounted to Rs. 24,826 and Rs. 26,674 respectively, as against Rs. 42,551 and Rs. 27,863, respectively, in 1906. The deficit of Rs. 1,848 was due to the fact that a large number of emigrants requisitioned for 1907 by the Government of Surinam, were not despatched until the beginning of 1908, and the fees realised on their account are not therefore included in the accounts of the year. The decrease of Rs. 17,725 in the receipts was caused solely by the falling off in the demand for labour during the year under review.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to acknowledge the careful administration of the Department by Dr. Banks and Dr. Hendley.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. C. STREATFEILD,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

During his absence on leave Mr. F. C. T. Halliday officiated. The office of Deputy Commissioner was held by Mr. F. C. T. Halliday from the 1st January to the 10th April, by Mr. C. A. Tegart from the 11th April to the 13th November, and again by Mr. F. C. T. Halliday from the 14th November to the 31st December, during which period Mr. Tegart remained on as Additional Deputy Commissioner. Mr R. Macrae, Deputy Commissioner, held charge of the Port Police throughout the year.

2. The principal measures taken during the year to give effect to the scheme for the reorganization of the Calcutta Police were the replacement of the Superintendent of the Port Police by a Deputy Commissioner and the regrading of the Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors. The substitution of Deputy Commissioners for Superintendents of Divisions will take some years to carry into effect. Beyond this the most important change still remaining to be effected is the re-division of the city into four instead of five divisions. Proposals are at present under the consideration of Government for the reorganization of the beat system. The Police are at present called on to perform more night duty than is compatible with health or efficiency; and it is hoped by better arrangements to secure less continuous strain and greater alertness.

3. Three officers and 68 men were dismissed during the year as against 7 officers and 57 men in the year 1906. Other departmental punishments have decreased; but the number of men judicially convicted has risen from 10 in 1905 and 21 in 1906 to 31 in the year under review. Equally disappointing is the increase in the number of resignations and desertions. One hundred and seventy-six men resigned as against 133 in 1906. The number of resignations is, however, very much less than in 1904 and 1905. As many as 100 recruits deserted, an increase of 17 over the number of desertions in the previous year. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the change of training ground from Calcutta to Bhagalpur will effect an improvement in this respect. There has been a continued improvement in the work of the Port Police, on which Mr. Macrae is to be congratulated.

4 There has been a very slight fluctuation in the figures showing the education of the men. The drop in the number of officers able to read and write from 420 in 1906 to 167 is explained by the exclusion of 282 head constables from the column for officers.

5. There has been a further increase of 3,672 in the number of true cognizable cases reported direct to the Police and instituted on complaint to a Magistrate. The increase is principally due to a very much larger number of prosecutions under the Cruelty to Animals Act. While this indicates closer supervision and a stricter enforcement of the Act, the Lieutenant-Governor notices that in spite of the larger number of prosecutions the number of horses sent to the Belgatchia Infirmary for treatment dropped from 170 in 1906 to 87 in the year under review. The attention of Magistrates is particularly drawn to the provision in the Act by which they are enabled to send diseased animals to the Infirmary to be cured at the expense of their owners. This provision, if freely applied, is a much more useful preventive against the use of diseased and suffering animals than the mere imposition of small fines.

6. There were 15 murder cases reported during the year, besides 2 cases of 1906, brought to trial in 1907. Only 4 persons were convicted; 2 were awaiting trial at the close of the year. There was again an unusually large number of cases of riot and unlawful assembly; but the increase over the average was principally due to the disturbances which took place on the 2nd and 3rd October. There was a regrettable increase of 724 in the number of cases of theft, and 254 in the number of burglary cases, over the figures of the previous year. The increase is ascribed by the Commissioner of Police to the large influx of up-country coolies to the industrial works in progress in the Southern Division Suburbs, the Dock Extensions and the new drainage works, as also to the fact that the jute mills at Garden Reach were closed for some months. Three gangs of professional thieves were tracked down in the Northern Division of the town; 35 members of them were convicted towards the close of the year. The reorganization of the beat system, which is at present under the consideration of Government, will, it is hoped, lead to a diminution in the number of burglaries. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction that the vigorous measures taken in previous years against bogus firms have had a salutary effect. These had practically ceased to operate in the year under review.

7. There were as many as 32,845 cases institutud in the courts of Presidency Magistrates, an increase of more than 2,000 over the previous year. Of these, 4·1 per cent. were disposed of by Honorary Magistrates. The High Court and the Alipore Sessions Court dealt with 55 and 17 cases respectively, of which 41 and 13 ended in conviction. Six hundred and seven old offenders were re-convicted for specific offences under Chapters XII and XVII, Indian Penal Code, as against 581 in 1906. Only 28 of these cases were convicted at the Courts of Sessions, in spite of the fact that over 200 of the 607 re-convicted persons had more than 3 previous convictions, and as many as 140 had over 4 previous convictions. It appears to the Lieutenant-Governor that the number of such cases disposed of by Magistrates instead of being committed to the Court of Sessions is excessive. It has been ascertained that in 39 cases accused who had already been convicted at least twice, and had received the maximum punishment which can be inflicted by a Magistrate, were again sentenced by Magistrates. Most of these cases would surely have been more suitably committed to the Court of Sessions.

8. It is satisfactory to note that the number of persons dealt with as first offenders under section 562, Indian Penal Code, has risen from 65 in 1906 to 129 in 1907. Only 10 of these, however, were so dealt with by the Suburban Courts. Twenty-seven juvenile offenders were sent to the Reformatory School as against 31 of the previous year.

9. The system of identification by means of finger impressions has continued to give excellent results. One thousand and fifty-nine persons were identified by this means as against 1,020 in 1906 and 984 in 1905.

10. Two hundred and two private motor cars and 14 private motor cycles were registered during the year, and the number of certificates of registration subsisting at the close of the year was 433 for motor cars and 59 for motor cycles. Five deaths were caused during the year by motor cars; in one case the driver was prosecuted and convicted; in the other cases the drivers were exonerated from blame.

11. A considerable amount of additional work was thrown upon the Police in the beginning of the year by the visit of His Majesty the Amir of Afghanistan and by the Minto Fête. The work done by the Police on these occasions was entirely satisfactory. A noteworthy event of the year was the disturbances which took place in Calcutta on the 2nd and 3rd October. These disturbances have been the subject of a separate resolution of Government. The allegations made against the Police of having committed or abetted the commission of illegal acts at the time of the riots were fully enquired into. Certain lapses from duty received departmental punishment. On the whole, however, the conduct of the Police in dealing with the disturbances reflected credit on the discipline of the force.

12. The best thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to the officers who occupied the post of Commissioner of Police and to those serving under them for the good work done in the course of the year. The necessity for dealing with the growing unrest in the city brought on the Police much undeserved obloquy. It is to their credit that they performed their duty, often under trying circumstances, with patience and firmness.

ORDER:—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, for information and guidance.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Chief Presidency Magistrate, Calcutta, the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta, and the Municipal Department of this Government for information.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

F. W. DUKE,

Offg. Chief Secy: to the Govt. of Bengal.

* The report is for the week ending the 20th June 1908.

General Summary.—Rain was general throughout the Province. The fall was heavy in Murshidabad, Cuttack, Angul, Puri, Sambalpur, Ranchi, Manbhum and Singhbhum, and also in parts of Burdwan, Nadia and Jessore; in Bihar it was light. The rain received has been sufficient in Lower Bengal, Orissa and Chota Nagpur for the crops, but more rain is still wanted in Bihar for the sowing of bhadoi crops, especially in Champaran and Darbhanga. Weeding of jute and sowing of bhadoi crops is still going on. Sugarcane is doing well. Paddy seedlings and jute have been damaged to some extent by recent heavy showers in Midnapore, Hooghly, Howrah, Nadia and Jessore. Damage has also been done to the early sown crops in Angul. Stocks of food-grains are insufficient in Nadia, Murshidabad, Balasore and Palamau. The price of common rice is stationary in most districts. It has risen in Burdwan, Hooghly and Saran, and has fallen in the 24-Parganas, Jessore, Balasore, Ranchi, Palamau and Manbhum. Cattle-disease is prevalent in Shahabad, Bhagalpur, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh and Ranchi. The fodder and water-supply for the Province is fairly sufficient. The test-works in Bankura, Nadia, Murshidabad, Jessore, Cuttack, Balasore, Angul, Puri, Hazaribagh and Ranchi were attended by 11,510 persons. Gratuitous relief was given to 24,443 persons, of whom 16,064 were in Orissa.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and from e observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the rmometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the w Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet ve the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the rveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

o, overcast; g, dark, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

The 7th July 1908.

No. 74 Marine.—The following revised regulations for the admission of locally selected candidates into the Bengal Pilot Service at Calcutta have been sanctioned by the Government of Bengal, in supersession of those sanctioned under notification No. 66Marine, dated the 16th June 1906, and are published for general information:—

REGULATIONS FOR THE ADMISSION OF LOCALLY SELECTED CANDIDATES INTO THE BENGAL PILOT SERVICE AT CALCUTTA, CORRECTED UP TO JUNE 1908.

1. In any year in which a local candidate is to be appointed to the Bengal Pilot Service a competitive examination will be held in or about the month of March, and six months prior notice of the examination will be published by the Local Government. The number of vacancies available for local candidates shall also be declared, and they will be filled up by the successful candidates in order of merit; but no local candidate shall be appointed who does not satisfy the Examiners, or who in other respects does not come up to the requirements of the following rules.

2. Candidates must be not less than 18, or more than 22 years of age, and descended from European or Eurasian parents domiciled in India. They must produce a Board of Trade or Colonial Certificate of Competency as a 2nd Mate or any higher grade, Provided that an intending candidate who, in the month of March in any year in which no examination is held, is not more than 22 years of age, and has fulfilled the conditions of service laid down in Rule 4 below, shall not be debarred, on account of being over the prescribed age, from appearing at the next examination held.

3. Every candidate must produce a medical certificate of good health and physical fitness to work as a pilot in a tropical climate, and also satisfactory evidence as to his moral character. Every passed candidate will, before appointment, be required to undergo a further examination as to his physical fitness by the Medical Board sitting at Calcutta, and will not be appointed unless the Board certifies him to be in all respects physically fit to work as a Pilot on the Hooghly.

4. He must have served at sea for four years in a merchant sailing vessel of not less than 300 tons register, employed in the foreign trade, as a seaman or apprentice, and must produce satisfactory certificates from the Masters he has sailed under.

5. Before being admitted to the examination, the candidate will have to satisfy the Examiners that he has passed the Middle Scholarship Examination under the Code of Regulations for European Schools, or that he has passed the Calcutta University Entrance Examination. Candidates will be examined in Navigation and Seamanship up to the standard of a 2nd Mate in the Merchant Service.

6. He will on being appointed to the service receive Rs. 100 per mensem.

7. A Leadsman Apprentice will go through such a course of training and pass such examinations as the Government of Bengal may from time to time prescribe. He will, whilst in this grade, receive a salary of from Rs. 100 to Rs. 150 a month, in accordance with the duty on which he is employed. He will also receive such share of the lead-money paid by the ships on which he does duty as may from time to time be fixed by the Government of Bengal.

8. After five years' service as a Leadsman Apprentice, he will be allowed to appear at an examination to qualify him for appointment as Mate Pilot, but if he shows exceptional ability and has passed each previous examination in his first attempt, bears a very good character and is otherwise well reported on, this period may, with the special sanction of the Government, be reduced to four and-a-half years, when, if successful in the examination, he will be promoted to the grade of Mate Pilot on the occurrence of a vacancy. While remaining as a Leadsman Apprentice after passing this examination, he will receive a salary of Rs. 175 a month.

9. After three years' service as Mate Pilot, he will be permitted to go up for an examination to qualify for appointment as Master Pilot, and, if successful, he will be promoted to that grade on the occurrence of a vacancy.

This rule does not apply to Mate Pilots who entered the service without a 2nd Mate's Certificate of Competency. Such officers will be required to serve four years as Mate Pilot before being eligible for permanent promotion.

10. Vacancies which occur in the grade of Branch Pilot will be filled up by promotion from the Master Pilot's grade, of men who have passed the Branch Pilot's examination.

11. Branch Pilots and Pilots who have passed the Branch Pilots' examination, will, while under 55 years of age, be examined at intervals of three years by the Marine Surgeon with respect to their eyesight and general physical fitness for the performance of their duties. All Pilots who continue in the service after attaining the age of 55 years will be similarly examined every year.

12. If the Local Government has reason to believe that a Pilot is, owing to physical unfitness of any kind, incapable of discharging his duties properly, it shall arrange for his medical examination, and shall take such action as may seem desirable when the results of that examination are communicated. In particular, Pilots shall be medically examined after the occurrence of any accident to the vessels in their pilotage charge, if the circumstances tend to show that the accident was in any way attributable to physical unfitness on the part of the Pilot.

13. Pilots are not entitled to any salary while on pilotage duty, but receive as their remuneration a share, at present 50 per cent., but liable to alteration at the discretion of the Government of Bengal, of the pilotage dues paid by ships piloted by them.

14. The Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right to require all Pilots to obtain a Home Trade Master Mariner's certificate before they are promoted to be Senior Master Pilots.

15. Every member of the Pilot Service is subject to such rules as the Government of India, or as the Government of Bengal under the control of the Government of India, may from time to time respectively make in regard to discipline, leave, leave allowances, number of officers in the service, distribution into grades, tonnage of ships to be allotted to the several grades, etc., and in all respects he is amenable to such orders as may be passed by the Government of Bengal, and is liable to degradation, suspension and dismissal, by the Government of Bengal, for any breach of such rules or orders, or for misconduct.

NOTICES TO MARINERS.

THE following Notices are published for general information.

W. A. INGLIS,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA, the 1st July 1908.

BAY OF BENGAL—HUGHLI RIVER APPROACH.

General Instructions.

No. 271 (first publication).—The following "directions" are laid down for guidance of masters of vessels, pilots and others in supersession of the instructions on pages 215, 216 and 217 of the third edition of the Bay of Bengal Pilot, 1901, and Bengal Government Notice No. 257, dated 6th July 1905 :—

Steam pilot vessels—Cruising station, Sandheads.

The steam pilot vessels are three-masted vessels painted white with yellow funnel.

On an inward-bound vessel being sighted, a square blue flag is hoisted at the main when the pilot vessel is underweigh; if the pilot vessel is at anchor, in addition a blue pennant is hoisted at the mizzen; at night the Regulation lights for steam pilot vessels are exhibited, also a flare up is shown.

During the south-west monsoon the steam pilot vessels cruize about 8 miles south to south-west of the Eastern Channel light in very strong winds and heavy sea about 10 miles. During the north-east monsoon they cruize or anchor about 2 to 3 miles S. by W. to S.W. of the Eastern Channel light vessel.

Pilotage is compulsory for all merchant vessels over 100 tons. If a pilot is not taken at the cruising station considerable loss of time is likely to occur before obtaining one on the river.

Approach—Directions.—Steam vessels arriving at the Sandheads and finding the steam pilot vessel, at the station, should close with her and lie to about 300 yards distant, under her stern, in the same direction the steam pilot vessel is heading, and in such a manner as to make a lee for the pilot boat, when a pilot will be supplied.

To avoid delay, approaching steam vessels at night should, when about half-a-mile off the steam pilot vessel, indicate their gross tonnage by the following steam whistle signals:—

Over 3,400	tons gross	...	One short blast.
Between 2,800 and 3,400	,,	...	Two short blasts.
,, 1,800 and 2,800	,,	...	Three short blasts.
Under 1,800	,,	...	Four short blasts.

Sailing vessels should signal net tonnage.

Sailing vessels should make the pilot station signal for a pilot, and on the approach of the steam pilot vessel heave to, and a pilot will then be sent.

During bad weather when boating is not safe, or when there are no pilots available, the steam pilot vessels during the day will not show the square blue flag at the main, and at night will not exhibit the Regulation lights or flare up for a steam pilot vessel.

Sailing vessels should not run on the station at night or in threatening weather.

The steam pilot vessels are in telegraphic communication (wireless) with Calcutta; the necessary forms can be obtained from the pilot boat.

In August, September and October, no pilots being available, sailing vessels are signalled to keep to windward; in this case it is advisable to keep the Eastern Channel light vessel well in sight, drop a kedge if wind falls light to prevent drifting off the station.

Caution—Should it be necessary when approaching the Sandheads to anchor from any cause, if possible anchor outside a line joining Eastern Channel and Mutlah light vessels, in not less than 15 fathoms mud.

A vessel will ride easier and bring less strain on her cable if anchored in depths of 15 to 20 fathoms than in less depths, especially in an estuary. In the greater depths the cable, with a good scope of chain, is never quite taut, therefore not so liable to part; the sea has less force than in shoal water.

AUSTRALIA—Torres strait—Inner route.

Cape Bowling Green lighthouse—Apparatus removed and a temporary light to be exhibited.

No. 272 (first publication).—The Port Master, Brisbane, has given notice (No. 4 of 1908) that the sea having encroached on the site of Cape Bowling Green lighthouse to such an extent as to justify the removal of the apparatus, a temporary light will be exhibited from the flagstaff, but, as such is only visible for a short distance, masters of vessels navigating that vicinity should not approach to the westward of the track recommended,

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE SANITARY COMMISSIONER, BENGAL, FOR THE YEAR 1907.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—SANITATION.

Darjeeling, the 29th June 1908.

RESOLUTION—No. 561T.—San.

READ—

The Report of the Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal, for the year 1907.

READ ALSO—

The Triennial Report on Vaccination in Bengal for the years 1905-1906 to 1907-1908.

Lieutenant-Colonel F. C. Clarkson, I.M.S., was in charge of the Department throughout the year 1907, and the present reports are submitted by him.

2. Climatic conditions.—The total rainfall of the year was below the normal throughout the Province, except in Orissa, where it was abnormal. It was not, however, so much the shortage in total fall that adversely affected the people as the very unequal distribution, and the cessation of rain at an unusually early date.

3. Births and Deaths.—Excluding the district of Angul, to which the system of registration of births and deaths has not yet been extended, the number of births registered in the Province was 1,905,425, as compared with

1,885,725 in the preceding year, or 37·70 per mille of population, against 37·32 per mille returned in 1906. The total number of deaths was 1,906,192, as compared with 1,823,243 in the previous year and an average of 1,749,995 in the five years 1902—1906. The ratio of deaths per mille was 37·72, against 36·08 in the previous year and 34·63, the average of the previous quinquennium. In remarkable contrast with these figures are those returned for the jails of the Province, in which the death-rate per mille decreased from 24 in 1905 to 17·5 in 1907. The jail statistics testify, as the Inspector-General of Prisons has stated, to what can be done by persistent and common sense attention to sanitation. The largest increase in deaths occurred under fever, cholera and plague. The Sanitary Commissioner attributes the rise in mortality to the greater unhealthiness of the year. He remarks that the very high prices of food grains that prevailed affected general health in many districts by compelling the poorer classes to have recourse to unsuitable food which lowered their vitality, so as to render them more susceptible to fever and other prevailing diseases and more liable to succumb to them. On the other hand, the fact that the total number of deaths from fever was considerably less than in 1905, the increase in the total number of births and the figures of infant mortality tend to show that these causes did not operate universally. The experiment of testing the accuracy of the vital statistics was continued throughout the year in certain parts of the Burdwan district, with the usual result, viz., that in a number of cases the entries as to the cause of death were found to be inaccurate.

4. Cholera.—The mortality from cholera was the highest recorded since 1901, the total number of deaths reported being 205,702, against 192,596 during the preceding year, and 138,999, the average of the previous quinquennium. The Sanitary Commissioner attributes this rise in mortality in a great measure to the pollution of the water-supply and to the use of unwholesome food by the poorer classes in consequence of the high prices prevailing. The disease was most virulent during the last five months of the year, especially in September. While no part of the Province enjoyed complete immunity, the districts of Champaran, Darjeeling, Sambalpur, Singhbhum and Ranchi were comparatively free from the disease. Orissa suffered most severely, the three districts of Cuttack, Balasore and Puri together reporting more than one-fourth of the total deaths in the whole Province. From the Cuttack district alone, 31,805 deaths were reported, of which three-fourths occurred during the months of August, September and October, when the insanitary conditions that supervened on the heavy floods must have largely conduced to the spread of the disease. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction that the treatment of wells with permanganate of potash was successfully adopted in many parts of the Province and that the people are gradually learning to appreciate this method of disinfection.

5. Plague.—There was a rise in the mortality from plague, as compared with the previous year, the number of deaths recorded being 83,602, against 59,619 in 1906 and 126,084 in 1905. As usual, the disease was most prevalent from January to May. More than 90 per cent. of the total number of deaths occurred in the Patna Division, the districts worst affected being Saran (30,007 deaths), Patna (21,858 deaths), Shahabad (10,067 deaths) and Gaya (7,645 deaths). Evacuation of houses continued to be the measure chiefly relied on, and most largely resorted to, by the people themselves; but there are indications that the prejudice against inoculation is gradually weakening, though this measure is still regarded with disfavour by the great mass of the people. In Calcutta 3,123 persons, and in the rest of the Province 2,766 persons, were inoculated, as compared with 101 and 1,777, respectively, in the previous year. Chemical disinfection has practically been abandoned. Rat extermination as a preventive measure was carried on in several places with comparative success, the incidence of plague being less severe than in other localities where no such measures were taken. During the year the Lieutenant-Governor convened a special conference to consider the most appropriate lines of action in view of the experience of the last ten years; and, as a result, a special leaflet was drawn up by the Sanitary Commissioner and distributed, after translation into the several vernaculars, throughout the plague affected portions of the Province. Sir Andrew Fraser was gratified to find that in the Saran district an attempt had been made to enlist the sympathies of the people themselves on the side of remedial measures, by taking advantage of the new Chaukidari Union System and enrolling the Presidents and the members of these Unions as local committees for the purpose. His Honour would like to see similar methods adopted in this respect in other districts, with a view to working through the local leaders of the people themselves, and in mutual confidence.

6. Fever.—The total number of deaths from fever was 1,171,540, as compared with 1,132,579 in 1906 and 1,214,487 in 1905. Even allowing for the tendency to report as due to fever deaths from various other diseases the symptoms of which cannot be correctly diagnosed by the local chaukidars, this mortality, which represents upwards of 60 per cent. of the total deaths from all causes, must be regarded as very serious. The districts which suffered most were Birbhum, Purnea, Palamau, Nadia, Monghyr and Murshidabad, which recorded a mortality, respectively, of 38·27, 36·96, 33·19, 32·38, 32·02 and 31·23 per mile. Calcutta and Puri again showed the smallest proportion of deaths from this cause. Looking to the different Divisions, Bhagalpur now heads the list with a ratio of deaths per thousand of 30·49, while Orissa (12·18) as usual stands quite apart with scarcely half the average ratio for the whole Province. The spread during the year of a malignant type of fever like a wave over the Birbhum district calls for special investigation; and the Lieutenant-Governor awaits the result of the enquiry which is to be made by the Deputy Sanitary Commissioner, Metropolitan and Orissa Circle, during the ensuing fever season. The seriously high mortality that has been reported during successive years from the Purnea district also demands the special attention of the Sanitary Commissioner. Among urban areas, Murshidabad has shown the highest mortality for the last three years in succession. The Sanitary Commissioner should, during his next visit to this town, enquire fully into the complaint made by the Civil Surgeon that no means have been provided for draining the pits and hollows by the side of the new railway embankment. The anti-malarial measures referred to last year continued to be carried on in a systematic manner at Ranaghat and Jagdispur and in certain selected areas of the North Barrackpore Municipality. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to learn that several Municipalities have, at the Sanitary Commissioner's suggestion, undertaken anti-malarial measures, in many cases with useful results.

7. The report of the Drainage Committee, appointed by Government to investigate the prevalence and causes of malaria and to what extent it is due to obstructed drainage, was received during the year, and the orders of Government passed thereon. Action has already been taken in respect of most of the recommendations made. The Government of India has just sanctioned the deputation of a special I.M.S. officer for the purpose of conducting a systematic and continuous enquiry into the causes of malaria and the extent to which it prevails; while the question of creating a special engineering division for the examination of the drainage conditions of specified areas is still under the consideration of that Government. The Lieutenant-Governor has sanctioned a scheme prepared by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals for the deputation of a large number of selected Civil Hospital Assistants during the fever season to distribute medical aid in specially malarious tracts. A leaflet containing instructions for self-treatment with quinine, and stating where the pice packets can be obtained, has recently been widely distributed in English and in the vernaculars. His Honour desires to invite the attention of the Sanitary Commissioner to the account, given in paragraph 63 of the annual Report on the Jails in this Province for 1907, of the excellent results achieved in the jails by administering doses of quinine during the fever season. Sir Andrew Fraser considers that this and other experience point to the expediency of the Sanitary Department making an earnest effort to popularise as widely as possible the use of quinine as a febrifuge amongst the mass of the people. The question of adopting special measures in this direction will be taken up separately in consultation with the Sanitary Commissioner and the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

8. Dysentery and Diarrhœa.—The number of deaths registered under this head was 51,670, against 48,920 in the preceding year. As remarked by the Sanitary Commissioner, the causes which contributed to cholera also helped to swell the death-rate from these diseases. As usual, the Orissa Division showed the heaviest death-rate and the Bhagalpur Division the lightest. Of individual districts, Howrah again heads the list, a position which it has maintained since 1902. No attempt has been made to assign any reason for this coincidence.

9. Respiratory diseases.—The total mortality from this cause was 15,039, against 12,825 in 1906. There has been a gradual increase under this head during the past few years, which is most probably due to more careful reporting. The largest number of deaths was, as usual, returned from Calcutta (5,007).

10. Injury.—During the year 25,283 deaths were reported under this head, against 26,695 in 1906, and an average of 24,366 in the five years 1902-1906. Of these, 3,170 were due to suicide, 1,571 to wounds, 11,327 to accidents, and 9,215 to snake-bite. In 18 districts 215 cases of snake-bite were treated, 17 with antivenene and 198 with permanganate of potash. With the former mode of treatment 70 per cent. of cases were successful, and with the latter over 88 per cent. ended in recovery. These results must be regarded so far as they go as highly satisfactory; and the Lieutenant-Governor warmly approves of the recommendation made by the Sanitary Commissioner that permanganate lancets should be widely distributed throughout the districts, so that persons bitten by venomous snakes may be able to avail themselves of the treatment without undue delay. The Sanitary Commissioner will be requested to submit separate proposals, with an estimate of cost, towards this end. Though the mass of the uneducated population still have faith in the charms and incantations of ojhas and quacks, still if it can be demonstrated to them that the lancet treatment is infinitely more efficacious they will gradually take to it.

11. Sanitary Improvements.—Sir Andrew Fraser has read with pleasure the account given in section IX of the report of the action taken by District Boards and Municipalities in the promotion of sanitary measures. The large increase in expenditure of over four lakhs of rupees by municipal bodies under important heads of sanitation is evidence of the growing interest taken in these matters. In view of the large number of septic tank installations that have been set up in the riparian Municipalities, Government has recently decided to appoint a special Inspector, whose duty it will be to inspect these installations periodically, and take samples of the effluent for bacteriological examination.

12. Sanitary Board.—During the year the Sanitary Board prepared preliminary estimates for water supply schemes for Burdwan and the Akra Brick Factory, and detailed estimates for a scheme for Puri and for remodelling the Bhagalpur scheme. The detailed scheme for a water-supply for Monghyr was also completed during the year. The details of the Gaya water-supply scheme were under preparation. Besides these, eleven drainage and three water-supply schemes for various Municipalities were considered by the Board. Among the former, the most important were the Hooghly-Chinsura, Howrah, Puri and the Nawi and Sunthi Rivers Drainage projects. The last named, which is estimated to cost nearly 6 lakhs of rupees, has been taken up under the Bengal Sanitary Drainage Act. The tract of country to be benefited by the scheme comprises an area of 70 square miles, and includes the Barasat Municipality. The water-works schemes were for Darjeeling, Howrah and Kurseong.

13. Vaccination.—The report on vaccination is for the triennial period 1905-1906 to 1907-1908, and is a record of steady progress, notwithstanding the prevailing high prices and the consequent reluctance on the part of poorer classes to offer their children for vaccination owing to their inability to pay the fees. In Cuttack vaccination has, under the Lieutenant-Governor's orders, been given free during the current year to those unable to pay for it. Several useful reforms were introduced into the Vaccination Department during the triennial period under review, which have tended to better work and greater efficiency. The pay of the subordinate inspecting staff has been increased; arrangements have been made to give the inspecting and vaccinating staff instruction in the most approved modern methods of vaccination at selected centres; and the system of granting rewards to vaccinators has been generally introduced. Antiseptic vaccination has been employed throughout the province; and the change has been attended with satisfactory results. In order to prevent the deterioration of lymph which was noticed last year, the lymph is now supplied direct to the vaccinators from the Calcutta Depôt. On account of the abnormally high mortality from small-pox in Orissa, special measures have been adopted for pushing vaccination, and a Special Inspector has been appointed for the Division.

14. The Lieutenant-Governor's acknowledgments are due to Colonel Clarkson and his subordinates for their administration of the Department; and His Honour notices the good work done by Captain Munro in connexion with certain special enquiries.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT ON THE REFORMATORY SCHOOLS FOR THE YEAR 1907.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Darjeeling, the 2nd July 1908.

RESOLUTION—No. 1316T.—G.

READ-

The Annual Report on the Reformatory Schools at Alipur and Hazaribagh for the year 1907.

The number of boys admitted to the Reformatory Schools rose from 95 in 1905 to 146 in the year under review. In accordance with the orders of Government contained in paragraph 4 of Resolution No. 977, dated the 11th July 1901, the Boards of Management examined the lists of admissions with the object of ascertaining whether there were any cases which could have been more suitably dealt with under the provisions of section 562, Criminal Procedure Code, or section 31 of the Reformatory Schools Act (VIII of 1897). As a result of this scrutiny, 7 boys were released from the Alipur School; but in the case of the Hazaribagh School no exception was taken to the decisions of the convicting courts. The judicial returns for the year under review show that 396 youthful offenders were discharged on probation under section 562, Criminal Procedure Code; while 45 were released after admonition or made over to their guardians under section 31 of the Reformatory Schools Act. The corresponding figures for 1906 were 282 and 60 respectively. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to note that Magistrates are making more use of their powers under section 562, Criminal Procedure Code. The number of boys in the two schools at the close of the year was 416; viz., 207 at Alipur and 209 at Hazaribagh. Of these 260 were Hindus, 139 Muhammadans, 9 Christians, and 8 aborigines.

2. The number of admissions to hospital rose from 61 in 1906 to 118 in 1907 in the case of the Alipur School, and from 58 to 114 in the case of the Hazaribagh School. At Hazaribagh chicken-pox and malarial fever were the principal cause of this increase. These diseases were also prevalent among the general population of the town of Hazaribagh. At Alipur beri-beri broke out in an epidemic form on the 5th September. The total number of cases was 50 with 2 deaths. There is every reason to believe that the disease was not brought about by the condition of the school, but was introduced from outside. The sanitary arrangements of the school were as good as circumstances allowed, and the food and water-supply were both excellent. The unsatisfactory character of the cubicles, however, probably assisted in the propagation of the disease. The evacuation of the cubicles and worksheds and the removal of the boys into camp prevented further spread of the epidemic, which died out on the 8th of November. The proposal to remove the Reformatory to Hazaribagh has since been sanctioned by the Government of India. The amalgamation of the two schools will shortly be carried out, and it can confidently be expected that the health of the boys will improve in the better climate of Hazaribagh. There was no death in the Alipur Reformatory School except the two from beri-beri, and the only death in the Hazaribagh School was due to accidental drowning. There was again a distinct and satisfactory improvement in discipline, the number of punishments falling from 201 to 113. This improvement is especially marked at Hazaribagh, where the figures fell from 149 to 54. There was no remarkable variation in the number of marks obtained by the boys for good conduct and industry, and their average earnings were very much the same as in the previous year. Due attention was paid to physical drill and gymnastics at both the schools. At the Alipur School the band continued to make satisfactory progress, and lessons in fire drill and in first aid to the injured were regularly given during recreation hours.

3. As regards general education the results in both schools were satisfactory. At Hazaribagh 19 boys reached the upper and 25 the lower primary standard. At Alipur the upper primary standard was abolished, but 38 boys passed the lower primary stage. At this school additional optional instruction in Bengali and Hindi was provided in the case of Indian boys, and in English in the case of European and Eurasian boys and of such Indian boys as had passed the lower primary examination and were working as compositors. The general instruction of the boys was tested by half-yearly and yearly examinations, and the Head Master of the Calcutta School of Art examined the drawing classes, which were attended by 16 boys. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice that two boys are now being taught type-writing. The arrangements for the religious teaching of the Hindu, Muhammadan and Christian boys were satisfactory.

4. As usual the boys were instructed as far as possible in their caste trades, agricultural work being taken up at Hazaribagh and industrial work at Alipur. At the latter school arrangements for the examination of the industrial work were further improved; and the classes were divided into elementary, intermediate and advanced. Out of 209 boys in the school, 135 appeared at the industrial examination and 101 passed. This result is exceedingly satisfactory. At the Hazaribagh School good progress was made in farming and market-gardening, the average number of boys under training rising from 79 in 1906 to 104 in 1907.

5. During the three preceding years 166 boys were discharged from the Alipur School and 157 from the Hazaribagh School. Out of 144 who had learnt trades at the school enquiries show that only 36 are following such trades, while 47 are following other callings. Of the 157 Hazaribagh boys, 103 had been taught agriculture, but it has been found that only 52 out of this number are following that pursuit. These figures cannot be considered satisfactory. It is hoped that the scheme for the improvement of the agricultural classess at Hazaribagh which is now under the consideration of Government will lead to better results in this respect. Of the 323 boys released from the two schools, 223 were found to be leading honest lives, the figures for Hazaribagh being slightly better than those for the Alipur School. It must be remembered however that at Alipur a more difficult class of boys has to be dealt with. It is gratifying to notice that good progress has been made in the efforts to trace discharged boys, only 49 out of the total of 323 remaining untraced.

6. During the year under review, the number of boys under license from the Alipur School was 56 as against 49 in the preceding year. Of these only 3 ran away from their employers and only 2 were sent back to school for misconduct and laziness. At the end of 1907, only two boys were out on license from the Hazaribagh School as against 23 in the preceding year. The Director of Public Instruction will be asked to explain why more use was not made of the license system at this school.

7. The question of providing better means for securing the welfare of boys discharged from the reformatory schools has recently been under the Lieutenant-Governor's consideration. It is hoped that a system will shortly be introduced under which regular allowances will be paid for a term of 3 years to well-behaved boys after their release. The payment of these allowances will make it easy to keep in touch with the boys, and will, it is hoped, reduce the number of failures. It is also proposed to appoint a special staff to visit released boys from time to time, to watch their careers, and to help them to find honest employment.

8 It is probable that the failure of the boys to follow the trades in which they have received instruction in the schools is due to some extent to defects in the method of surveillance. The appointment of a special supervising staff with knowledge of and sympathy for the boys should be productive of great good, if their work is assisted by the practical interest and support of local zamindars and capitalists.

H. C. STREATFEILD,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

* The report is for the week ending the 27th June 1908.

General Summary.—During the week under report, heavy showers fell in Sambalpur, the 24-Parganas, Cuttack and Puri, as well as in Midnapore, Hooghly, Howrah, Hazaribagh and Ranchi. The fall was moderate in Nadia, Jessore, Gaya, Darjeeling and Angul, and in the rest of the Province, it was light. Sugarcane is doing well. Weeding of jute still continues Sowings of bhadoi crops and of aghani paddy are still going on, but they are being retarded for want of rain in many parts of Bihar. More rain, it is reported, is still wanted for paddy sowings in Burdwan, Birbhum and Palamau. In Purnea, the standing crops are withering for want of moisture Damage has been done to crops by the late rainfall in Howrah. Stocks of food-grains are insufficient in Nadia, Murshidabad, Balasore and Palamau. The price of common rice has risen in Bankura, Howrah, Patna, Gaya, the Santhal Parganas and Puri, and has fallen in Birbhum, Hooghly and Angul. Elsewhere, in the Province, it is stationary. No anxiety is felt for the supply of fodder and water. Cattle-disease prevails in Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Ranchi, Palamau and Manbhum. The test-works in Bankura, Nadia, Jessore, Cuttack, Balasore, Angul, Puri, Hazaribagh and Ranchi were attended by 18,528 persons. The total number of persons gratuitously relieved was 24,749 which included 16,887 souls from Orissa.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and Thermograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

o, overcast; g, dark, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; t, thunder; <, thunderstorm.

The joint agreement shall be in the form given in Appendix VII to these rules. The contractor must have a beneficial interest in some part of the land included in the application extending for the full term of the lease.

26. Contractors are authorised to collect water-rates from the cultivators who have signed the application and from their successors in interest in the land included in the block at the rates fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

27 A contractor (or in case there be more than one, each contractor severally) shall use due diligence in the collection of the water-rates specified in the agreement from the cultivators who have applied for the water supply. In the case of his failure after due diligence to collect, he shall within thirty days of the rates becoming due submit to the Collector a list showing the names of the defaulters with the sums due from each, and the Collector shall thereupon proceed to realize the amount due from the said defaulters according to law.

28. A contractor (or in case there be more than one, each contractor severally) shall be responsible for all sums payable on the agreement except such sums as he may satisfy the Collector that he has been unable to collect after using due diligence and shall be entitled to a commission of 5 per cent. on all sums collected by himself.

29. In the case of a lease entered into under an application in the form given as Appendix I, a contractor may subsequently be appointed by the Collector with the written approval of the Divisional Canal Officer. Such contractor must for the whole term of the lease have a beneficial interest in some part of the land included in the application and must sign an application in the form given as Appendix VIII. The appointment shall not be made unless the lambardars and leading cultivators give their assent in writing thereto and the Collector is satisfied that the appointment of a contractor is acceptable to the signatories to the lease.

30. The contractor appointed under rules 25 and 29 may, but shall not necessarily be lambardar. The lambardar will in all cases be appointed by the Canal Officer under the provision of rule 22 and shall be remunerated at the rate specified in rule 21 subject to the conditions mentioned in rule 24.

31. No steps shall be taken to prepare a joint application by cultivators and a contractor until the written assent of the Collector to the proposed contractor has been received, nor shall the Collector take any steps towards the appointment of a contractor under rule 29 until the written assent of the Divisional Canal Officer has been received. The Collector may, before approving of a contractor under this rule, require him to give security for the due performance of the contract.

32. A contractor may resign his interest in the lease by giving notice to the Divisional Canal Officer three months at least before the 16th June next following, in which case his connection with the lease shall cease from that date and the Subdivisional Canal Officer shall proceed to appoint a lambardar under rule 22 and the Collector to realize water-rate due directly from the lessees.

The Divisional Canal Officer may, at the instance of the Collector, remove any contractor who fails to use due diligence in making collections. In such cases three months' notice at the least before the 16th June next following shall be given and the removal shall take effect from that date. The Collector may, under the conditions and procedure specified in rule 29, appoint a new contractor in place of a contractor who has resigned or who has been removed.

34. Any objections made shall be taken down and the whole record forwarded to the Divisional Canal Officer for disposal.

35. The Divisional Canal Officer after hearing any objection that may be raised shall if he is of opinion that the land should be assessed, fix the rates allowed under rule 33 and return the record to the Subdivisional Canal Officer who shall then complete the assessment. Water-rates shall not be charged where the unauthorized irrigation has occurred through the act, neglect or default of a Canal Officer or subordinate. It is not an unauthorized use of water during the kharif season to receive or to lead water on to unleased lands which may have been supplied to lands under lease in excess of requirements.

36. Applications for leases may be subsequently received from villages in which unauthorized irrigation has occurred, and these villages may be granted leases; in such cases the persons assessed under rule 33 shall also pay the water-rates due in respect of the lease subsequently granted, provided that the total of these two rates shall not exceed the maximum rate chargeable under rule 33. In such cases of double assessment the Divisional Canal Officer may remit, in whole or in part, the rates assessed under rule 33.

ON PENALTIES AND CANCELLING OF LEASES.

37. Should it be proved, after due enquiry, that the supply of water given to any area leased for a term of years is habitually wasted or used for the irrigation of lands not under lease, it shall be competent for the Superintending Canal Officer to direct that the lease shall be cancelled with effect from the 1st June next following.

38. The Superintending Canal Officer may, with the concurrence of the Collector, direct the Divisional Canal Officer to—

(I) Cease to issue permits for the irrigation of lands in villages where there have been constant difficulties in realising water-rates until all the arrears of water-rates due are paid up; and also, if specially so ordered, until half the amount due under new applications is paid in advance. An order under this rule shall be in force for the time stated therein, which shall not exceed three years.

(II) Cancel any lease for a term of years, if on the 1st June water-rates to the extent of half the demand for one year are in arrears.

No person shall, without the written permission of the Divisional or Subdivisional Canal Officer, pass or cause any animal or vehicle to pass along or across any of the works, channels, or banks of a canal or drainage work after he has been desired to desist there from except by means of such bridges, fords, and ferries and their approaches as have been provided for the purpose. Any person who after due warning breaks this rule may be proceeded against under section 93, clause (9) of the Bengal Irrigation Act, III of 1876.

40. Unless specially exempted by the Lieutenant-Governor from the operations of these rules no officer employed on the canal shall have any interest in the distribution of water from it, or purchase or bid for any Government property sold thereon, either in his own name or in the name of another, or jointly or in shares with others.

STATEMENTS AS TO ANARCHISM.

The Hon'ble BABU JOGENDRA CHANDRA GHOSE said:—"I beg leave to make a statement. I have been authorized by the members of the District Boards, the Local Boards, and the Municipalities of the Presidency Division 'to state that they view with abhorrence the anarchical crimes lately committed, that they are keenly alive to the great benefits of the British rule, and that they undertake to exert all the influence they possess on the side of order and peace in the country. They beg to assure the Government that the great mass of the people are loyal and wholly unaffected by anti-British agitations, and they trust that for the crimes of the few, the people of Bengal as a whole should not be objects of suspicion or in any way suffer; and that the Government will be pleased to go on in its beneficent course of furthering the progress of education, the development of agriculture and industries and of sanitation in the country, and grant a larger measure of self government which it might have been prepared to grant if the incidents of the last two or three years had not happened.'

"More than four hundred members of the Boards, being about 90 per cent. of the entire number, most of whom are elected, representatives of over one million of Bengalis, have given me authority in writing. Only two gentlemen have written to say that the statement was unnecessary, and resolutions of two or three public bodies have omitted the last few lines of the statement, though most of their members have individually given an unconditional authority.

"As a sample I beg leave to place before Your Honour a letter from the Vice-Chairman of the 24-Parganas District Board. 'Referring to your very laudable proposal to make a statement at the next meeting of the Bengal Legislative Council, I unhesitatingly beg to submit on my behalf and on behalf of the District Board, 24-Parganas, that we each and all of us dissociate ourselves from all anarchical movements of a microscopical minority which is looked upon with extreme abhorrence and hatred. It is incumbent on me to assure you that we have not the slightest sympathy with the political propaganda of anti-British fanatics who want to upset a settled Government and introduce chaos and disorder in the place of peace and prosperity, and I would earnestly request you to be so good as to represent the cherished views and sentiments of our Board at the next meeting of the Council'

"It is our fervent prayer that the Government will be graciously pleased to continue their beneficent course of furthering the progress of education, the development of agriculture and industries and of sanitation, and grant a larger measure of self-government."

The Hon'ble BABU GAJADHAR PRASAD said:—"With Your Honour's permission I want to make a statement on behalf of the whole of Bihar. I beg to assure Your Honour that the Biharis do not sympathize with the movement of the Anarchists—rather they view it with a feeling of deep abhorrence. They are of opinion that full patriotism is synonymous with full loyalty to Government. Government is bound to put down anarchy for the welfare of the people, and in taking any measure to suppress anarchism the Government is entitled to the full and earnest support of the people, and I hope the Indians will unhesitatingly and freely give such support."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I do not think it is necessary for any Hon'ble Member to state his own views, and unless any other Hon'ble Member has authority to state the views of others, it is perhaps unnecessary to prolong the discussion.

"I think that Hon'ble Members will agree with me that our colleague has rendered public service of some value in obtaining this expression of opinion from the members of the District Boards, Local Boards, and Municipalities who have selected him for nomination to this Council. As he has stated, the members of these bodies are practically unanimous in their abhorrence of the crimes lately committed and attempted. They desire to assure the Government that the great mass of the people, whom they represent in the local bodies of the Presidency Division, are loyal and wholly unaffected by anti-British agitation; and they express the hope that the crimes of the few will not subject the people of Bengal to general suspicion, nor prevent the Government from pursuing its course of reform and efforts after improvement in administration.

"My hon'ble friend showed me last Thursday the mass of letters which he has received authorizing him to make the statement which he has made to-day on behalf of his constituents. Only two letters out of the hundreds which he showed me fail to express cordial sympathy with the sentiments of loyalty which his statement contains, and the writers of these letters only disagree so far as to say that they do not consider his statement necessary. I am glad that this view was found to be so very exceptional. It has been too long a reproach to men of moderate opinions that they have failed to see the necessity for speaking out in a manly and straightforward way. I hope that we are done with this. I have especially noticed the courtesy and eager cordiality, not to say enthusiasm, which the vast majority of these letters have evinced. They are written by Englishmen, Hindus and Muhammadans; and, whatever the race or religion of the writer, his entire sympathy with the statement which our hon'ble friend desired authority to make is manifested in the clearest manner.

"There were, I think, only two letters, in addition to the two already referred to, which did not accept the whole of the statement proposed. These were from two gentlemen who thought that the last part of the statement might be omitted. One of them explained that as a father and a teacher he had found that it was not well to 'punish and pet' at the same time. He therefore proposed that reform should be suspended until public order was completely restored. I was glad to see that this proposal was made by only two of those who replied to the Hon'ble Member's letter. It may not be a sound thing to punish and pet a child at the same time, but it is quite unsound to deprive one person of benefits because it is necessary to punish another.

"There is no intention on the part of Government to make concessions to disorder, but there is a determination not to allow the crimes of a few to divert it from its policy of just and progressive administration. I think that we have good reason to congratulate ourselves that the Secretary of State and His Excellency the Viceroy have both declared emphatically that they will not stay their hand in the work of reform, and in the just and beneficent rule of this country, because what we believe to be a very minute minority of the people has adopted a course of conduct which calls for the severest repression and punishment.

For my own part I feel that the police must be called on to take special precautions for the prevention of crimes contemplated by a section of the community, and that every effort must be made by the Government, in the interests of sound administration and in the interests of the people themselves, to crush and punish these efforts to disturb the public peace and to incite to, or to commit acts of lawless and wicked violence. But at the same time I cannot admit that my opinion of, or my regard for, the people of India as a whole has undergone any very serious change from the events which have occurred. I do not attribute these events to the people generally, and I decline to condemn the whole population for the crimes of a few.

"I earnestly trust that the clear declaration of loyalty and of regard for order which has been made here to-day, and which is now being made in so many parts of India, will prevent the people generally from being suspected of complicity in, or indifference to, those crimes. I trust also that it will tend to give more courage to those who have found it in the past somewhat difficult to speak for order and for peace and lead them to take up a stronger position in face of the noisy minority that advocate disorder and disloyalty."

QUESTION AND ANSWER.

LOCATION OF THE PROPOSED TRAINING COLLEGE.

The Hon'ble BABU GAJADHAR PRASAD said:—

In view of the facts that Bengal is far more advanced educationally than Bihar, and that the need of a Training College is not so great in Calcutta as in Bihar, will it please the Government to locate the proposed Training College for teachers at Patna or at Bhagalpur?

The Hon'ble MR. STREATFEILD replied:—

"The location of the proposed Training College has not yet been finally settled. The claims of Bihar will receive careful consideration."

THE BENGAL LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT (AMENDMENT) BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. OLDHAM moved that the Bill to amend the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885 be re-committed to the Select Committee for the incorporation of provisions relating to sanitation and provisions for preventing the diversion of the road-cess. He said:—

"It will be within the recollection of this Council that after the presentation of the last Report of the Select Committee on this Bill, the consideration of the measure was, in view of the opinion then expressed, postponed by His Honour the President in order that steps might be taken, with the sanction of the Government of India, to the insertion of provisions for (1) ear-marking the road-cess for the objects for which it is collected, and (2) giving Local Union Committees certain powers in respect of measures of sanitation, conservancy, drainage and water-supply, subject in certain cases to the control of the District Board and the Commissioner, and empowering them to supplement the funds available for such local improvements by permissive local taxation.

"The draft amendments have since been framed, and the sanction of the Government of India has been received to their introduction. I need say little in regard to the proposals for ear-marking the road-cess. The amendments suggested by this Government with this object, which involve amendment of sections 52, 53, 138 and Schedule II of the Act, have been accepted by the Government of India, on condition that power be expressly reserved to Government to condone any temporary or exceptional deviation from the rule. In regard to local sanitation, it is proposed, amongst other provisions, to allow a Union Committee to undertake works of sanitation suo moto, subject to the control of the District Board and of rules made by the Lieutenant-Governor; to deal with insanitary villages or insanitary blocks in villages, in accordance with a scheme to be approved by the District Board and the Commissioner; to employ special establishment for the cleansing of villages and to require occupiers of houses to cleanse their holdings; to control the construction of new buildings, and to supplement their income by levying light taxation from the owners or occupiers of property within the Union. Appeals to the District Magistrate and the Commissioner of the Division have also been provided for as a safeguard."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. OLDHAM also moved that the Hon'ble Mr. Greer, the Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami Bahadur and the Mover be added to the Select Committee on the same Bill.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council was then adjourned to a date to be notified hereafter.

BAY OF BENGAL—HUGHLI RIVER APPROACH.

General Instructions.

No. 271 (second publication).—The following "directions" are laid down for guidance of masters of vessels, pilots and others in supersession of the instructions on pages 215, 216 and 217 of the third edition of the Bay of Bengal Pilot, 1901, and Bengal Government Notice No. 257, dated 6th July 1905 :—

Steam pilot vessels—Cruising station, Sandheads.

The steam pilot vessels are three-masted vessels painted white with yellow funnel.

On an inward-bound vessel being sighted, a square blue flag is hoisted at the main when the pilot vessel is underweigh; if the pilot vessel is at anchor, in addition a blue pennant is hoisted at the mizzen; at night the Regulation lights for steam pilot vessels are exhibited, also a flare up is shown.

During the south-west monsoon the steam pilot vessels cruize about 8 miles south to south-west of the Eastern Channel light in very strong winds and heavy sea about 10 miles. During the north-east monsoon they cruize or anchor about 2 to 3 miles S. by W. to S.W. of the Eastern Channel light vessel.

Pilotage is compulsory for all merchant vessels over 100 tons. If a pilot is not taken at the cruising station considerable loss of time is likely to occur before obtaining one on theriver.

Approach—Directions.—Steam vessels arriving at the Sandheads and finding the steam pilot vessel, at the station, should close with her and lie to about 300 yards distant, under her stern, in the same direction the steam pilot vessel is heading, and in such a manner as to make a lee for the pilot boat, when a pilot will be supplied.

To avoid delay, approaching steam vessels at night should, when about half-a-mile off the steam pilot vessel, indicate their gross tonnage by the following steam whistle signals:—

Over 3,400	tons gross	...	One short blast.
Between 2,800 and 3,400	,,	...	Two short blasts.
,, 1,800 and 2,800	,,	...	Three short blasts.
Under 1,800	,,	...	Four short blasts.

Sailing vessels should signal net tonnage.

Sailing vessels should make the pilot station signal for a pilot, and on the approach of the steam pilot vessel heave to, and a pilot will then be sent.

During bad weather when boating is not safe, or when there are no pilots available, the steam pilot vessels during the day will not show the square blue flag at the main, and at night will not exhibit the Regulation lights or flare up for a steam pilot vessel.

Sailing vessels should not run on the station at night or in threatening weather.

The steam pilot vessels are in telegraphic communication (wireless) with Calcutta; the necessary forms can be obtained from the pilot boat.

In August, September and October, no pilots being available, sailing vessels are signalled to keep to windward; in this case it is advisable to keep the Eastern Channel light vessel well in sight, drop a kedge if wind falls light to prevent drifting off the station.

Caution—Should it be necessary when approaching the Sandheads to anchor from any cause, if possible anchor outside a line joining Eastern Channel and Mutlah light vessels, in not less than 15 fathoms mud.

A vessel will ride easier and bring less strain on her cable if anchored in depths of 15 to 20 fathoms than in less depths, especially in an estuary. In the greater depths the cable, with a good scope of chain, is never quite taut, therefore not so liable to part; the sea has less force than in shoal water.

AUSTRALIA—TORRES STRAIT—INNER ROUTE.

Cape Bowling Green lighthouse—Apparatus removed and a temporary light to be exhibited.

No. 272 (second publication).—The Port Master, Brisbane, has given notice (No. 4 of 1908) that the sea having encroached on the site of Cape Bowling Green lighthouse to such an extent as to justify the removal of the apparatus, a temporary light will be exhibited from the flagstaff, but, as such is only visible for a short distance, masters of vessels navigating that vicinity should not approach to the westward of the track recommended.

During June, the distribution of rain was irregular. The precipitation was very heavy in the districts of the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions, Burdwan received an average rainfall of 16·10 (normal 10·15), Hooghly 17·10 (normal 10·28), Howrah 23·07 (normal 10·93), the 24-Parganas 19·37 (normal 10·89), Calcutta 26·12 (normal 11·04), Nadia 20·17 (normal 10·00) and Jessore 17·07 (normal 11·69).

Excess of the normal fall was received as follows:—In Burdwan 5·95, Hooghly 6·82, Howrah 12·14, 24-Parganas 8·48, Calcutta 15·08, Nadia 10·17 and Jessore 5·38 inches. Expressed in percentage figures, the above districts received 159, 166, 271, 178, 237, 201 and 146 per cent. respectively.

Excepting the districts of Birbhum, Bankura, Midnapore, Murshidabad, Khulna, Cuttack, Balasore, Puri and Manbhum, where there was a slight excess, all the districts of the Patna, Bhagalpur, Orissa and Chota Nagpur Divisions received less than the average fall.

From the percentage table, it will be seen that South-West Bengal received 145 per cent., Bihar 52 per cent., Orissa 76 per cent. and Chota Nagpur 76 percent.

The total rainfall from January to June was 105 per cent. of the normal in South-West Bengal, 63 per cent. in Bihar, 63 per cent. in Orissa and 81 per cent. in Chota Nagpur.

The following table gives the rainfall of the various divisions of Bengal in June and in each of the previous months of the present year as compared with the normal values for the same periods. The figures given represent the actual falls expressed as percentage of the normal falls :—

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Kundsen's Barograph and rom eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the hermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet bove the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the urveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in ie Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 1 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

o, overcast; g, dark, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; q, squally; ● continued rain.

In order to equalize the marked deficiency in income over expenditure which had occurred in recent years necessitating annual loans from Government, the Committee introduced new rules requiring small extra payment from those requiring medical attendance, operations, medicines and dressings, etc. From this source during the present year the following sums were realized:—

	Rs.	A.
Medical attendance	4,245	0
Operations	1,538	15
Total ...	5,783	15

The daily average cost of diet for inmates only, not including staff, was Re. 1-14-3 compared with Re 1-9 in 1906.

The accounts were as in former years audited by Messrs. Lovelock and Lewis, of Calcutta, whose letter giving the result of audit and statements showing the financial position are attached.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 10th July 1908.

No. 4078P.—Despatch from His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 7-Financial (Funds), dated the 12th June 1908, and enclosures :—

India Office, London,
12th June 1903

Financial (Funds),
No. 7.

To His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor-General of India in Council.

MY LORD,

In continuation of Lord George Hamilton's Despatch dated the 25th of July 1902, No. 4 (Financial, Funds), and with reference to my Despatch dated the 9th of August 1907, No. 6 (Financial, Funds), I forward herewith for your information and publication in the Gazette of India copies of the Valuation and Report by Mr. Willis Browne, F.I.A., the Actuary to this Office, on the assets and liabilities arising under Indian Civil Service Family Pension Regulations as on the 31st of March 1905, with the further report thereon by Mr. Stanley Day, F.I.A.

Indian Civil Service Family Pension Regulations, Valuation as on the 31st of March 1905.

2. The consolidated accounts for the period from the 1st of October 1898 to the 31st of March 1905 are also transmitted.

3. In paragraph 21 of his Report, dated the 15th of April 1907, on the Military Pensions, Mr. Stanley Day raised the question of excluding potential assets and liabilities from these valuations, and Mr. Browne in his enclosed report deals with this matter, and Mr. Stanley Day now reports that "I have not attempted here to differentiate between contingent and potential contributions, recognising the force of Mr. Willis Browne's observations on the impracticability of ignoring potential contributions and liabilities for children while a rate in aid is required from bachelors, which rate in aid cannot be made to fall due coincidently with the contributions to be drawn from fathers." For the present, at any rate, it seems necessary to continue to include the potential assets and liabilities in these valuations, and the valuation of the Military Family Pensions as on the 31st of March 1908 will include such assets and liabilities.

4. The valuation has been made on the basis of interest at 4½ per cent., and at this rate Mr. Browne estimates that the assets exceed the liabilities by the sum of £8,138/., which would admit of a temporary reduction of 13½ per cent., but 12½ per cent. would be a more convenient rate, and I authorise a reduction of 12½ per cent. as proposed by Mr. Stanley Day on all subscriptions, but not on donations payable, under these Regulations with effect from the 1st of the month following the date of Actuaries' Report and this Despatch are published in the Gazette of India to the date of the publication of the next valuation.

5. The date on which the reports, &c., are so published should be communicated to me by telegram.

6. In preparing the half-yearly accounts of receipts and expenditure, the donations from married officers should be separated into marriage and disparity donations with effect from the 1st of April 1908, this will give effect to Mr. Stanley Day's request that particulars should be furnished of the marriages in which there is a difference of more than five years between the ages of the husband and wife, and of the disparity donation thereby involved.

7. The revised table of monthly contributions is enclosed for the information of those concerned

I have the honour to be,
My Lord,
Your Lordship's most obedient humble Servant,
(Signed) MORLEY OF BLACKBURN.

ENCLOSURES.

Enclosure No. 1.

REPORT by Mr. WILLIS BROWNE, F.I.A., dated 27th August 1907.

INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE FAMILY PENSIONS.

I submit herewith an abstract of a valuation, as at 31st March 1905, of the assets and liabilities arising under the Indian Civil Service Family Pension Regulations. In the absence of instructions to the contrary I have made the valuation at the rate of interest now in force, viz., 4½ per cent.

As on previous occasions, I should furnish certain statistics bearing upon the personal state of the fund and upon the rates of mortality, marriage, &c., now obtaining.

The personal state compares with that at the respective dates of the two previous valuations as follows :—

Class.	VALUATION DATE, 30TH SEPTEMBER 1893.			VALUATION DATE, 30TH SEPTEMBER 1898.			VALUATION DATE, 31ST MARCH 1905.
	No. of married Officers.	No. of un-married Officers.	Total.	No. of married Officers.	No. of un-married Officers.	Total.	No. of married Officers.	No. of un-married Officers.	Total.
I ...	None	None	None	None	None	None	125 (1 widower).	18	143
II ...	None	None	None	46 (1 widower.)	12	58	79 (2 widowers.)	25	104
III ...	7	9	16	58	20	78	82 (3 widowers)	30	112
IV ...	59	66	125	93 (3 widowers).	108	201	149 (1 widower.)	108	257
V ...	31	226	257	64 (1 widower.)	248	312	86 (3 widowers.)	247	333
Total ...	97	301	398	261	388	649	521	428	949

The number of married officers represents about 55 per cent. of the total number of subscribers as against a number representing between 39 and 40 per cent. at the date of the last valuation, and between 24 and 25 per cent. at the date of the last but one; and the class percentages of married member compare with those obtaining at the two previous dates in the following manner :—

Class.	PERCENTAGE OF MARRIED TO TOTAL NUMBER OF SUBSCRIBERS IN EACH CLASS.
	Valuation, 30th September 1893.	Valuation, 30th September 1898.	Valuation, 31st March 1905.
I ...	None	None	About 87 per cent.
II ...	None	About 79 per cent. ...	About 76 per cent.
III ...	About 44 per cent. ...	About 74 per cent. ...	About 73 per cent.
IV ...	About 47 per cent. ...	About 46 per cent. ...	About 58 per cent.
V ...	About 12 per cent. ...	About 20 per cent. ...	About 26 per cent.

Of the 438 bachelors and widowers—

327 are under 10 years of service,
79 from 10 to 15 inclusive, and only
32 from 16 to 23 inclusive.

The above statistics indicate that the high marriage rates ruling among Indian civilians are likely to continue.

Of the 511 officers with wives living at date of this valuation, as compared with the 255 officers with wives living at date of last valuation, the following members contracted marriage at the ages stated :—

With regard to the number of lives exposed the experience of the Fund up to about the age of 35, although not extensive, is, at any rate, indicative of the rates that may rule hereafter. But considering the very limited period over which the experience extends, especially at the older ages, it would not, in my opinion, be wise to depend upon the rates now shown. The late Mr. Sutton, on about the same numerical experience, but on an experience extending over a much longer period, although desirous of obtaining low rates which would benefit those in whose behalf he was acting, did not consider it safe to adopt the rates shown by the experience, but increased them throughout to an extent such as to bring them into accord with results obtained on more extensive data. It will be observed, too, from the above comparative table that where the Fund's experience extends over the longer period, viz., at the younger ages, the rates of mortality are much in excess of those of the Hm table, whilst, on the other hand, where the experience extends over only a short period, viz, at the older ages, the rates shown are even lower than those of the Hm table. I am not, therefore, disposed to accept the rates now ruling, more especially as I consider that the table I used for the last valuation, which was based on the experience of the Fund for the five or six younger ages and thenceforward on Mr. Sutton's rates, is the most suitable table for the present valuation.

The rates obtained by Mr. Sutton, and those obtained from the present experience of the Fund, compare as follows:—

Age.	Mr. Sutton.	Fund Experience.
21½ to 25½	·0094	·0098
26½ to 30½	·0104	·0100

Number entered unmarried	1,079
Number over all years under observation	7,782

On the above data the following rates are deduced according to years of service and compare with those based on the experience to 1st January 1899, and with those obtained by the late Mr. Sutton on the experience of the Bengal Civil Fund as under :—

Service.	Sutton's Bengal.	Experience to 1st January 1899.	Experience to 1st January 1905.
0	·077	·057	·040
1	·078	·065	·052
2	·079	·073	·076
3	·080	·085	·088
4	·085	·090	·100
5	·090	·095	·102

13	·115	·120	·128
14	·110	·110	·112
15	·100	·100	·092

Taking one with another, the rates agree so nearly that it becomes a mere matter of "leaving well alone," or, in other words, of accepting the table I selected for the last valuation. For that valuation I accepted the rates based on the experience of the Fund for the first 15 years of service, and then followed on with the rates obtained by Mr. Sutton on the experience of the Bengal Civil Fund. A few officers entered the Service already married. I am unable to include these among the marriages of officers whilst in the Service, as I am not in possession of data that would enable me to ascertain the numbers of such officers, subject to marriage prior to their becoming members of the Fund. But it proves this, that I have rather under- than overstated the marriage rate at the younger ages. At the same time the number of officers entered the service already married is small, and could not materially affect the rates I assumed in the last valuation. Thus I feel justified in making no change.

Mortality rates—Wives of Officers, 1st January 1905.

The experience of the Fund is too small to permit of a table being based thereon The rates compare with those obtained on the experience to 1st January 1899 in the following manner :—

—	Ages.	Average rate at each Age.
		To 1st January 1899.	To 1st January 1905.
	20 to 24 inclusive	·0073	·0080
	25 to 29 inclusive	·0032	·0036
	30 to 34 inclusive	·0033	·0047
	35 to 39 inclusive	—	·0022

In my last report on this Fund, I mentioned the fact that it would be very unsafe to assume higher death rates than might be likely to prevail in the future, and I selected, for the reasons I then gave, and which need not here be repeated, the Institute of Actuaries H^{M} table for ages up to 24. Then for ages from 25 to 46 inclusive, I adopted the rates I obtained on the experience of the Indian Military Fund and, after the age of 46, I followed on with the rates for Government Annuitants (old table) the same as in the case of the Indian Military Service Family Pension Fund. This combination table I have used for the purposes of the present valuation. It is as follows:—

Mortality Rates—Daughters.

1st January 1905.

Number born	391
,, over all ages exposed to risk	2,034
,, of deaths	34

The death-rates based on the above data are—

Between birth and age 1	·0738
,, age 1 and age 2	·0203
,, age 2 and age 3	·0039

The ages of those exposed to risk range from 0 to 20 years. Of the 34 deaths, 27 occurred between birth and age one, six between the ages of one and two, and one between the ages of two and three. No deaths have occurred at older ages. The experience, however, is not wide enough to enable me to accept the results obtained otherwise than as an indication of low rates ruling in the future. To accept as a future basis results showing no deaths at all after the age of 2½ years would be an absurdity. Yet, so far, this is the actual case as touching the lives of the daughters of our Indian Covenanted Civil officers. But it should not be forgotten that, on a small experience such as this, it requires but six or seven deaths spread over the various ages to put quite a different complexion on the existing state of affairs. I have, therefore, for the purposes of this valuation, adopted the rates I used in the last Civil valuation and also in the valuation of the Indian Military Service Family Pension Fund, these low rates being, in my opinion, the most likely to prevail in the future as indicated by the present experience.

Marriage Rates.—Daughters.

1st January 1905.

Only five daughters had attained the age of 17 at the date of this experience. Three of these were between 17 and 18 years of age, one between 19 and 20, and one between 20 and 21. Thus I am placed in practically the same position as at the date of the last valuation, at which date no daughters had attained a marriageable age. I then gave my reasons for adopting the rates found to exist by the late Mr. Sutton on the experience of the Bengal Civil Fund, these rates being almost the same as those assumed in the construction of the original scheme. In the Indian Military Service Family Pension Fund the rates continue to remain low, but there are good reasons for believing that it will be otherwise in the case of daughters belonging to this Fund. Thus I have again adopted the rates based upon the experience of the Bengal Civil Fund.

Mortality Rates.—Sons.

Number born	421
„ over all ages exposed to risk	2,124
„ of deaths	33

The death-rates based on the above data are—

Between birth and age 1	·0530
„ age 1 and age 2	·0272
„ age 2 and age 3	·0071
„ age 13 and 14	·0323

The ages of those exposed to risk range from age 0 to age 20. Of the 33 deaths, 21 occurred between the ages of 0 and 1, nine between the ages of one and two, two between the ages of two and three, and one between the ages of 13 and 14. As in the case of daughters, so it is in the case of sons, and my remarks on the lives of the former apply equally here. It will be noticed that, of the 421 boys born, only 21 died before completing one year of age, whilst, of the 391 girls born, no fewer than 27 died before the end of the first year.
On the other hand, of the 613 boys whose lives were exposed to risk between one and three years of age, 11 of them died in the two years, whilst of the 552 girls exposed to risk, only seven died. The following comparative table is interesting:—

Ages.	Deaths per cent.
	Girls.	Boys.
Between birth and one	7·4	5·3
Between one and three	1·3	1·8

Taking the first three years of life together, about 3·7 per cent. of the girls die as compared with rather less than 3·2 per cent. of the boys.

The Valuation.

For the reasons advanced in my last Report, and which are here repeated, I have again found it necessary to include in the balance sheet the values of the potential assets and liabilities pertaining to present subscribers. These potential assets and liabilities have reference to the future families of bachelors, &c., and to the additional children of existing married officers. So long as the original rate of interest is continued, and the original tables remain applicable so long may it be considered unnecessary to deal with matters outside existing and contingent claims, because every new liability brings with it a corresponding asset. On a reduction of interest, however, or on the introduction of some other disorganising element, new assets do not correspond with new liabilities, the latter being greater than the former; and as this loss is continuous, applying, as it does, to every possible claim that can arise, it becomes necessary to value all the assets and liabilities that can be created by existing subscribers, married or single. By so doing, the valuation becomes extended to a period far beyond the range of contingent liabilities; and the results, in consequence, when compared with those of earlier valuations, where potential values have been omitted, may possibly assume an appearance of inconsistency unless the figures are closely examined into. Moreover, on the introduction of either of the changes alluded to, the calculations on which is estimated the aid to be derived from unmarried subscribers, become vitiated, the amount in excess of what is required during the Fund's infancy, and which we have spent by allowing a reduction of subscription, being swamped by the loss sustained at the fag end of the period pertaining to existing subscribers. This excess amount received in the earlier years having been spent on the assumption of a continuation of the original tables and interest rate there is nothing left to make good the loss incurred at the end of the period unless the scale of contributions be so increased as to fully counteract the effect of the changes introduced. In the original scheme it was assumed that there would exist indefinitely a certain proportion of bachelor members from whom at a given rate of interest, an annual sum would be derived sufficient to supply the deficiency in the required amount of married members' subscription for children. By this assumption, if the interest rate be reduced, we trespass upon future subscribers to make good a loss now being created. But in the event of the Fund being closed, or, which is the same thing, new conditions being made for new entrants, the revenue from this source is, de facto, at once cut off; and it will thus be understood that the result of a valuation, excluding potential claims, must be of a very misleading character, since the capital, which is included therein as an asset, is not wholly the property of incumbent and contingent pensioners, but forms, in great part, within the limit of unmarried subscription, the nucleus of a reserve for future children of both married and unmarrried subscribers. Thus, if for no other reason, potential assets and liabilities must be valued for the purpose of showing how much of the accumulated unmarried contributions should be apportioned to contingent subscriptions and how much to potential subscriptions. I shall presently show this.

The result of the valuation shows a surplus of 88,138*l.*, representing about 5·8 per cent. on the total value of the liabilities, and about 13½ per cent. on the value of the contingent assets, i.e., contributions for existing wives and children, and unmarried contributions. There is no doubt that this surplus is due to the subscriptions of unmarried members especially during the earlier years of the Fund's existence, when the bachelor members completely out-numbered the married subscribers. Now assuming the Fund at the present rate of 4½ per cent. interest to be closed to future Covenanted Civil Servants, under which assumption every valuation should be made, it will be at once acknowledged that the accumulated unmarred subscriptions must be held as a reserve to meet the deficiency of subscriptions from the fathers not only for existing children, but for those to be hereafter born. Thus in separating the potential from the contingent, &c., assets and liabilities, the past and future subscriptions of unmarried subscribers should be properly apportioned between existing and future children of present subscribers. This, indeed, is but merely carrying out the intentions of those responsible for the construction of the scheme, in which it was ruled that unmarried contributions should be considered as a "rate in aid" of the fathers' contributions for children. Surely this rule in itself has a "potential" meaning, for there were no children in existence at the time. I will now proceed to show the result of separating potential from incumbent and contingent assets and liabilities.

The accumulated unmarried contributions amount to 127,886*l.* A small proportion (a very small proportion indeed) of this sum must be due to the "rate in aid" towards the subscriptions for children now on the incumbent list. The information is not at present available, but it will be near enough to reduce the above amount by the odd 886*l.*, leaving 127,000*l.* to provide a "rate in aid" towards the contributions for contingent and potential children.

The value of the fathers' contributions for existing children	...	74,025
Ditto, future children	...	232,171
		306,196

Thus, on this proportion, I divide the sum of 127,000*l.*, as also the value of future unmarried subscription, viz., 78,790*l.*, and my potential balance sheet becomes :—

Assets.	£	Liabilities.	£
Unmarried proportion of capital ..	96,320	Future liabilities ...	640,591
Future married contributions ...	577,407	Proportion of charges for management ...	20,841
Future unmarried contributions (proportion).	59,760
			661,432
		Surplus ...	72,055
	733,487		733,487

This surplus represents about 11½ per cent. on all potential contributions, married and unmarried.

Deducting the above potential values from the valuation balance sheet, the surplus amounts to only 16,083*l.*, representing about 2·7 per cent. on the contingent contributions, married and unmarried (593,278*l*).

This proves that the surplus is mostly, if not entirely, due to unmarried contributions, and it further proves the necessity for including potential assets and liabilities in the valuation balance sheet.

Assuming, then, the continuance of a 4½ per cent. rate of interest, so far as existing subscribers are concerned, I recommend for favourable consideration an all-round reduction of 13½ per cent. as a temporary measure.

I may take this opportunity of bringing to the notice of those subscribers who have expressed their opinion that to subscribe to this Fund is to make a bad investment, that, in addition to any reduction in the scale of contributions that might be sanctioned by the Secretary of State for India in Council, such reduction being wholly due to the favourable rate of interest allowed in the past, the following benefits are provided entirely out of Indian revenue:—

Enclosure No. 2.

REPORT BY MR. STANLEY DAY, F.I.A., dated the 16th March 1908.

INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE FAMILY PENSIONS.

I have the honour to report that, in accordance with instructions received, I have carefully considered and examined Mr. Willis Browne's Report on the valuation as on the 31st March 1905 of the assets and liabilities arising under the Indian Civil Service Family Pensions Regulations.

The difficulty as to the rate of interest allowed to be assumed on the occasion of the valuation as at 30th September 1898 does not now present itself, for I note with pleasure that the rate of interest of 4½ per cent. may be used for the purposes of this examination.

I have to express my approval of the methods of calculation used in the valuation, and of the rates of marriage and mortality adopted.

The surplus disclosed amounts to 88,138*l.*, as compared with the surplus shown on the valuation of 1898 of 21,191*l.*, on the basis of 4½ per cent. interest. The resumption of the full rates of contribution then authorised is seen to have had effect.

It will be proper to trace how the surplus has arisen. Dividing the fund shown in the pro formâ accounts, it appears that the balance of capital applicable to wives and widows amounts to 200,183*l.* Then if we turn to the valuation balance sheet we find—that the estimate of future contributions for wives in existence is	500,093

to this add the outstandings (roughly apportioned) of	4,833
also the estimated present value of future contributions in respect of future wives of subscribers ...	345,236
which together with the accumulated capital (above) of	200,183
give total assets amounting to		1,050,345
On the other side there are—
Incumbent Pensions to widows, valued at ...	54,018
Contingent Pensions in respect of existing wives, valued at	654,601
Potential Pensions in respect of future wives valued at	373,423
and adding an allowance for expenses of	32,075
we have a total liability of		1,114,117
showing a deficiency on account of wives of ...		63,772

From this it is evident that none of the surplus has been contributed by husbands (as such), but rather that the account has been financed by the Children's Section. This result was at first disappointing, for I had reason to expect that the contributions for wives—which were re-instated in full by Order of the 25th July 1902—would have put the Fund in order.

Looking at this a little closer and comparing the valuation of 1898 with that of 1905, the deficit of 63,772*l.* shown above compares with a deficit of 53,925*l.* for the year 1898, an increased deficiency it is true, but taken as a percentage of the total pensions contemplated it is an improvement, being at the rate of 6·2 per cent. now instead of 8·9 per cent. The difficulty seems to lie with the "potentials," where we find a deficit now of 40,553*l.* instead of 27,932 as in 1898; but the working part of this section—the part we can more easily grasp—shows a lighter deficit now of 23,219*l.* on account of incumbent and contingent pensions as compared with shortage of 25,993*l.* in 1898. This improvement is the more marked when we consider the relative value of the pensions at stake, which are now capitalized at 708,619*l.* instead of 310,207*l.* in 1898, and the percentage of deficit to capitalized pensions is now 3·3 instead of 8·4. From this I infer that the wives deficit of 63,772*l.* is not so serious as would appear at first sight, that with a full contribution for wives equilibrium is being regained, and that the loss shown on "potentials" is probably due to a somewhat cautious estimate of the period during which subscribers will pay the full rates for contribution.

When we turn to the children's section, a very different story appears :—

Their share of the capital is	164,472
The value of contributions from fathers and bachelors is	384,986
and there are outstandings (apportioned) of ...	1,477
making a total asset of		550,935
Against this we set :—
The value of pensions—incumbent, contingent, and potential, of	385,508
and expenses	13,517
and find a total liability of		399,025
which shows the large surplus of		151,910

There is clearly room for substantial relief to be given to contributors here, and it will not be surprising to find that the whole surplus arises from the subscriptions of bachelors. It will be as well to try to understand the position.

The gross assets applicable to the children's section, both in respect of past accumulations and estimated future contributions, are taken at 550,935*l.*, of which 343,197*l.* is due to the contributions of the fathers, and the balance of 207,438*l.* to unmarried subscriptions, the ratio being as 62 : 38.

In the original scheme it was estimated that for pensions to a pair of children (boy and girl) the proportions of contributions by the father and his bachelor friends should be as 76 : 24, and in addition to this there was originally a further contribution from the father by way of donation, but the donations so paid did not amount to much, and none have been required for many years. Mr. Willis Browne, on the first investigation as at 30th September 1888, gave the proportions from father and bachelor friends as 67 : 33, but in the present valuation the ratio as shown above is 62 : 38.

I have not attempted here to differentiate between contingent and "potential" contributions, recognizing the force of Mr. Willis Browne's observations on the impracticability of ignoring "potential" contributions and liabilities for children, while a rate in aid is required from bachelors, which rate in aid cannot be made to fall due coincidently with the contributions to be drawn from fathers.

I find, on comparing the contributions of bachelors in this and the corresponding Military Scheme, that the average annual contribution from a bachelor civilian is 22*l.* 10*s.*, while the average from a military bachelor is only 5*l* 10*s.*, but the cases are somewhat different, especially as regards the marriage rate. The recent valuations estimate the contributions from civilian bachelors at eight years purchase, and those from the military at 16 years purchase; and taking the contributions per man into the average number of years in expectation, we have a capitalised amount of 180*l.* from the civilian, and 88*l* from the military officer. It may be proper to add here that in the estimate of bachelors' subscriptions those from widowers are included.

The whole surplus clearly arises from the contributions of the bachelors through the children's section. My first thought was to relieve the bachelors of their subscriptions altogether, but this seems somewhat too drastic, and on consideration it is evident that many who contributed to the surplus as bachelors have now joined the ranks of the husbands and fathers. The simple all-round reduction will therefore probably be in the end the most equitable.

Mr. Willis Browne recommends a general reduction of subscriptions of 13½ per cent., and this reduction is perfectly justified by the surplus shewn; but the fraction is an unusual one, and, being not so very different from the simple 12½ per cent. or ⅛, I should think that convenience of office practice would be in favour of the latter. It is understood that the donations are to be payable in full as before.

I have only to add, as a minor point, that it would be a convenience if the actuary were supplied, on a future reference, with particulars of the marriages in which there is a difference of more than five years between the ages of the husband and wife, and of the "Disparity Donations" thereby involved.

Municipal and Local.

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 1054M.—The 16th July 1908.—In supersession of the like By-laws Nos. 1 to 5 (inclusive) which were made by the Municipal Commissioners of Calcutta, under clause (k) of section 412 of the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1888, (Bengal Act II of 1888), and sanctioned by the Local Government in the notification dated the 4th October 1890, and in exercise of the powers conferred by section 566 of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899 (Bengal Act III of 1899), the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to accord his sanction to the revised by-laws for the regulation of theatres and other places of public resort, recreation or amusement, which have been made by the General Committee of the Corporation of Calcutta, under clause (52) of section 559 and section 561 of the said Act, and confirmed by the Corporation, in the modified form shown below :—

APPLICATION OF BY-LAWS.

1. These by-laws shall, unless otherwise specified, apply to all theatres and other places of public resort, recreation or amusement, whether existing at present or to be hereafter constructed, which now are or may hereafter be kept open to the public within Calcutta.

DEFINITIONS.

2. In these by-laws :—

(1) the expression " such premises " means a theatre or other place of public resort, recreation or amusement as aforesaid ; and

(2) the expression "hard wood" means Teak, Sâl, Seesum, Sissoo, Padouk, Jhara, Kari, or such other wood as the Chairman may approve.

PLAN OF BUILDING.

3. A correct plan of the building and seating arrangements as approved by the Chairman shall be framed and hung up in a conspicuous place of such premises, and two copies of the same shall be deposited with the Chairman. No deviation from such plan shall be made without sanction previously obtained from the Chairman.

VENTILATION.

4. All parts of such premises shall be properly and sufficiently ventilated in a manner to be approved by the Chairman.

INSPECTION.

5. The Chairman may cause all such premises to be inspected at least twice yearly, and if, as the result of such inspection, any defect or disorder be noticed in such premises in connection with and relating to any of the matters or things referred to in these by-laws, the Chairman may, by written notice, require the owner or lessee of such premises to make good such defects within a specified time to the satisfaction of the Chairman, and such owner or lessee shall be bound to comply with such requisition.

ENTRANCES AND EXITS.

6. In all such premises two separate exits shall be provided for every tier or floor which accommodates not more than 300 persons, and additional exits shall be provided for every 250 or part of 250 persons above 300. In calculating the number of persons which can be accommodated in any tier of such premises, the standing space from which a view of the performance can be obtained shall be considered, as well as the seated areas. For this purpose standing room shall be calculated at 1½ feet square for each person.

7. Each of such exits shall be not less than 5 feet wide between the walls at any point or between the leaves of the doors when open.

8. Every such exit must deliver direct on to an open space or thoroughfare or on to an open verandah the floor of which is not more than 3 feet above the level of the ground.

9. Two separate exits of a minimum width of 5 feet shall be provided from the stage direct to a public street or open space communicating with a public street or to an open verandah not more than 3 feet from the ground.

10. One separate exit of a minimum width of 4 feet shall be provided from each block of dressing-rooms direct to a public street or open space communicating with a public street, and shall in no way communicate with the stage.

11. All internal doors shall be so hung as not to obstruct, when open, any gangway, passage, staircase or landing.

12. All exit doors having fastenings shall be fastened by bolts of a pattern and in a position to be approved by the Chairman.

13. All doors and all gates used for entrances shall be made to open outwards; or if made to open both-ways, they shall be so fitted that when opened inwards they can be locked back against the wall in such a manner as to require a key to release them.

14. All doors leading from exit passages, staircases or corridors to other parts of such premises shall be hung so as to be closed by the stream of persons passing from the auditorium to the street, and shall be fitted with springs.

15. No door-handles or other fittings shall project into exit ways more than one and-a-half inches when the doors are open.

16. All barriers shall be made to swing or to open outwards with no other fastenings than approved bolts.

17. No locks, bolts or locking-bars or other obstructions to exits, other than those hereinbefore mentioned, shall be fitted on any doors, gates or barriers:

Provided that padlocks may be fixed on any external door; but such padlocks must be removed before the public are admitted, and must not be replaced until the public have left the building.

18. All exits and other doors or openings which are used by the public for the purpose of exit shall be indicated by notices clearly painted to the satisfaction of the Chairman.

CORRIDORS AND PASSAGES.

19. All corridors and passages leading from a tier or floor shall be not less than 5 feet wide, if the tier or floor accommodates not more than 250 people, and not less than 10 feet wide, if it accomodates more than 250 and not more than 500 people:

Provided that where a tier or floor accomodates not more than 500 people and a third exit is provided, the width of corridors and passages need not exceed 5 feet.

If a tier or floor accomodates more than 500 people, then for every 250 or part of 250 people, over and above 500, an additional width of 5 feet shall be added to the corridors and passages leading therefrom. Where possible, inclines shall be used instead of steps.

20. All corridors and passages shall be kept absolutely free, and no corridor or passage shall be used as a cloak-room or otherwise obstructed in any way.

21. There shall be no recesses or projections in the walls of corridors or passages within 5 feet of the floor.

STAIRCASES.

22. All staircases intended for the use of the audience shall be at least 5 feet wide at their narrowest part, if they communicate with exits from tiers accommodating not more than 300 persons; and shall be at least 7 feet wide at their narrowest part, if they communicate with exits from tiers accommodating more than 300 persons.

23. All staircases shall be provided with treads not less than 11 inches wide and with risers not more than 6 inches high (each lapping at least one inch over the back edge of the step below it), without winders, in flights of not more than 15 or less than 3 steps each.

24. No staircase shall have more than two flights of 15 steps each without a turn, the depth of the landing between such flights being at least the same as the width of the staircase.

25. A continuous and uninterrupted hand-rail shall be fixed on both sides of all steps and landings, and shall be supported by strong metal brackets built into the wall, and such hand-rails and brackets shall not project more than 3 inches.

26. No door shall open immediately upon a flight of steps, but a landing with a minimum distance of 3 feet between the door and the steps shall be provided between such steps and the doorway.

SEATING ACCOMMODATION.

27. The seating area assigned to each person shall be not less than 2 feet deep and 1 foot 6 inches wide in all parts of the auditorium where no backs or arms are provided to the seat, and not less than 2 feet 4 inches deep and 1 foot 8 inches wide where backs or arms are provided. In all cases, however, there shall be a space of at least 1 foot in depth between the front of one seat and the back of the seat immediately in front, measured between perpendiculars. Where chairs, and not fixed seats, are used, they shall (except in boxes) be battened together at a distance of not less than 1 foot 8 inches from centre to centre where they have arms, and 1 foot 6 inches where they are without arms, and in lengths of not less than 4 or more than 12 chairs in a section.

28. Each block of seating shall be provided with gangways to the satisfaction of the Chairman.

LATRINES AND URINALS.

29. All such premises shall be provided with sufficient and separate latrine accommodation for the use of males and females, respectively, and urinal accommodation for the use of males.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST FIRE.

30. No soft wood or other inflammable partitions, screens or barriers shall be used in any part of such premises (except for stage scenery), and no cavities shall be left behind any linings. All woodwork of the stage shall be rendered non-inflammable or be hard wood.

31. A drop curtain of some fire-resisting material to be approved by the Chairman shall be provided in the proscenium opening, and it shall be completely dropped flush with the floor of the stage at least once during each performance.

32. In all such premises where a stage with a proscenium is erected, such stage shall be separated from the auditorium by a brick proscenium wall not less than 15 inches in thickness, and such wall shall be carried up the full thickness to a height of at least 3 feet above the roof, such height being measured at right angles to the slope of the roof, and shall be carried down below the stage to a solid foundation.

33. Not more than three openings shall be formed in the proscenium wall, exclusive of the proscenium opening.

34. No such opening shall exceed 24 square feet in area. Each of such openings shall be fitted with a wrought-iron door hung so as to close of itself without a spring.

35. All skylights and lantern lights in such premises which may be liable to be broken shall be protected by stout galvanised-iron wire-guards securely fastened on the outside.

36. The space underneath the stage shall be entirely enclosed, with the exception of such doors as the Chairman may approve, by a brick wall not less than 10 inches thick, and shall be kept entirely clear and empty from all inflammable material or rubbish.

37. Such premises shall be provided with such number of hydrants and of such dimensions as may be required by the Chairman.

38. Each of such hydrants shall be provided with a length of hose of a minimum length of 30 feet, with fittings of the Calcutta Fire Bridade pattern, and shall be fitted with bibcocks for filling buckets. Three buckets filled with water shall be kept near each hydrant.

39. Where there is no constant supply of water in such premises, there shall be provided, at some suitable place to be approved by the Chairman, two or more cisterns entirely distinct from any cisterns which may be provided for purposes of latrine and urinal flushing, to be kept always filled with water.

40. Such cisterns shall be capable of containing in the aggregate at least 250 gallons of water for every hundred persons of the audience to be accommodated in the building.

41. Where such premises are made of wood, cisterns of double the capacity prescribed by by-law 40 shall be provided.

42. Hand-pumps, hose, buckets and such other small fire appliances as may be required by the Chairman shall be provided, and shall be kept in such a position as the Chairman may direct.

43. Blankets or rugs, and buckets filled with water, shall always be kept on the stage, in the flies, scene stores, or wings, and in the immediate passages approaching the dressing-rooms of such premises, and attention shall be directed to them by placards legibly printed or painted, and set up as the Chairman may direct.

44. A responsible person approved by the Chairman and paid by the owner of such premises shall be deputed to remain in the wings of the stage during performances to keep the blankets or rugs and fire appliances ready for immediate use.

45. Hatchets, hooks and other appliances for taking down hanging scenery in case of fire shall be always kept in readiness for immediate use.

46. The Chairman may order the owner or lessee of any such premises to provide the same with direct telephonic communication with the nearest fire station; and any person to whom such an order is given shall be bound to obey it.

OIL LIGHTING.

47. Additional means of lighting for use in the event of the gas or electric light being extinguished shall be provided in such premises for the auditorium, corridors, passages, exits and staircases by a sufficient number of oil lamps, of a pattern to be approved by the Chairman, properly secured to an unflammable base, and placed, if possible, out of reach of the public. Such lamps shall be kept alight during the whole time the public are in such premises. No mineral oil shall be used in such lamps.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING.

48. Sanction.—Before the installation of electric light or any electrical work or apparatus, and before any alterations or additions to the electric installation are commenced, the sanction of the Chairman must be obtained, and plans and specifications must be submitted.

49. Tests.—Where electric light is permitted, its use shall not be continued, unless a certificate in writing, certifying to the satisfaction of the Chairman that the system is in proper working order, is furnished to him at the end of each half-year.

50. Main Circuits.—All premises lighted by electric light shall have at least three separate and distinct main circuits—(A) for the stage, and (B) and (C) for the auditorium, corridors, exits and all parts of such premises which are open to the public. The circuits B and C shall be so arranged, that approximately half the lights in each division of the auditorium, and half those in each corridor, exit, etc., shall be on B and the other half on C circuits, and, as far as practicable, the lights on the two circuits shall be placed alternately. In no case may the two circuits be combined in one fitting, nor shall the wires or leads for one circuit be placed in the same box, tube, casing or other covering as those of another circuit.

A.—PERMANENT INSTALLATIONS.

51. System of Supply.—Where supply is given on the three-wire system, Circuits A and B or A and C shall be supplied from the opposite side of the system. The main leads, etc., for Circuit A shall, where possible, be kept entirely on the stage side of the proscenium wall, and those for B and C entirely on the auditorium side of that wall. If it is desired to control a portion of the lights in the auditorium from the stage board (circuit A), this shall be permitted if a sufficient number of lights, for safety purposes, be maintained on circuits B and C in each portion of the auditorium, entirely independent of the stage. The number and position of such lights shall be subject to the approval of the Chairman. No other premises and no other part of the same premises than that for which the installation has been sanctioned under by-law 48 shall be supplied electric current from the mains or apparatus installed under such sanction.

NOTE.—Where the supply is obtained from a Public Supply Company, it is recommended that the Company's fuses be arranged as in the diagramatic sketch below:—

THEATRE MAIN BOARDS.

If the stage installation is of such a size as requires that it be wired from both sides of a 3-wire system, the connection for the second stage switch board will be made to fuses 6 and 8.

52. (1) Conductors.—The whole of the conductors throughout such premises shall be of tinned copper having a conductivity which shall in no case be less than 100 per cent. of Mathiessen's standard for pure copper, as defined by the Committee on Copper Conductors, 1899. No conductor of less cross sectional area than the equivalent of No. 18 S.W.G. shall be used. All conductors of a cross-sectional area greater than No. 18 S.W.G. shall be stranded. The current density shall in no case exceed the maximum permitted for high external temperatures by the Rules of the Institution of Electrical Engineers of Great Britain, and in any special case such less current density as may be required by the Electrical Inspector.

(2) [INSULATION.] All conductors shall be substantially and carefully insulated with the very best pure and vulcanised India-rubber and India-rubber coated tape properly protected externally by braided flax or cotton, treated with a suitable and recognised preservative coating, or insulated and protected by such other means as may be approved at the time. The insulation resistance of conductors used must not in any case be less than 600 miles megohms for vulcanised rubber insulation, or for other approved insulation such insulation resistance as may be sanctioned by the Chairman. The name of the manufacturer shall be stated. The thickness of the di-electric must not be less than that permitted by the Rules of the Institution of Electrical Engineers. The use of non-Association wires or cables shall not be permitted.

(3) [CONDUCTORS.] All conductors shall be efficiently protected from mechanical injury. Where conductors pass through walls, floors or ceilings, they shall be protected by approved armoured insulating conduit, or by glazed stoneware or porcelain tubes, and precautions shall be taken to prevent the possibility of fire or water passing along the course of the conductors. Split tubing must not be used. In special cases, or where necessary for protection from the depredations of rats, mice or other vermin, armoured cables may be used. These need receive no further mechanical protection, but the armouring shall be efficiently and continuously earthed. Lead-covered cables shall not be used, unless protected by external armour of iron or steel or enclosed in substantial iron pipes or tubes. Metal fastenings for fixing conductors shall be avoided as far as possible. When they are unavoidable, some additional covering shall be used to protect the conductor, unless armoured, from mechanical injury at the points of support.

(4) [FLEXIBLES.] Flexible conductors, if composed of wires smaller than No. 25 S.W.G., shall be of untinned copper wire; if composed of larger wire, the wire shall be tinned. They shall be insulated with pure and vulcanised India-rubber, and shall have an insulation resistance of not less than 600 miles megohms and shall be protected on the outside by a stout braiding and rubber tube where necessary, as for instance in the orchestra. Should any of these flexible conductors be damaged, they shall at once be replaced. No circuit of this nature shall carry more than 5 amperes. No flexible of less equivalent sectional area than 62-38 S.W.G. shall be used.

53. Circuits.—In all circumstances complete metallic circuits shall be employed. Gas and water pipes shall never form part of any electric circuit. The main circuits A, B and C shall be sub-divided as may be necessary. The number of lamps shall be so subdivided that no sub-circuit shall carry more than 5 amperes in the case of the auditorium, corridors, etc., or 20 amperes in the case of the stage; and each sub-circuit shall start from a distributing board. The same sub-circuit shall not be used for arc lamps and incandescent lamps. Lights outside buildings shall be on sub-circuits entirely independent of inside lights. These outside sub-circuits may carry any currents not exceeding 20 amperes. Circuits for power purposes shall be kept distinct and separate from lighting circuits. All circuits shall be provided with a fuse on each pole, and the two fuses shall not be contained in the same chamber. All circuits carrying not more than 5 amperes shall be provided with a switch on one pole, and all circuits carrying over 5 amperes shall be provided with a switch on each pole.

54. Joints.—No joints whatever shall be made in any cable or wire without the permission of the Chairman. Joint boxes shall be used where a joint would otherwise be unavoidable, and they shall be of porcelain or other approved material entirely, mounted upon blocks, the junction being made in an approved manner.

55 Cutouts, Switches, Fittings etc.—(1) All circuits shall be efficiently protected by fuses placed only at the distribution boards, which shall be in positions easily accessible to the staff, but inaccessible to the public. All fuses shall be of such pattern and shall be fixed in such a position as to admit of quick replacement. All cutouts shall be so constructed that fused metal in falling cannot cause a short circuit or an ignition, and all terminals of same shall be of ample size to carry without heating the current for which they are intended. All cutouts shall be so marked as to show what circuits or lamps they control.

(2) All exposed metal works, such as fittings, switch and fuse covers, etc., shall be efficiently insulated from the circuits. All switches, cutouts, ceiling roses, wall and floor sockets, and lamp-holders shall have uninflammable bases and covers. All switches and cutouts shall have sufficient length of break, and shall be constructed so as to prevent the risk of formation of an arc. All lamp-holders shall be of bayonet-socket or other approved form, and shall be fitted with porcelain bridges or some equivalent separation between poles All switches shall be of ample size to carry the currents for which they are intended without heating, and shall be so constructed that it will be impossible for them to remain in any position intermediate between the "on" and the "off" position, or to permit of a permanent arc or short circuit.

(3) All fittings shall be suspended in an approved manner, and special care shall be taken to avoid risk of the suspension failing from any cause. Combined gas and electric fittings shall not be used. All switch and fuse-boards which are not fitted with front connections shall be so mounted as to give instant and easy access to the connections at the back of the board, and shall be provided with dividing strips between poles, both at back and in front, and proper lock-up cases with glass fronts, the glass (unless of adequate thickness) being protected by a wire-guard.

56. Lighting of Distributing Boards.—There must be a bracket, carrying an 8-c.p. lamp fixed over each main and branch distributing board, and connected through an independent switch and single pole fuse to the bus bars of that board.

57. Casing and Capping.—If casing be used, it shall be spaced from the walls on stoneware distance pieces; it shall be of hard wood; and each conductor shall be laid in a separate groove, unless previous permission be obtained to vary this condition. In no circumstances shall wires of opposite polarity be laid in the same groove, nor wires of the same polarity belonging to any one of the different circuits A, B and C. The cover shall be secured with screws at the outer edges. Casings shall, as far as possible, be placed in sight, and the conductors shall always be accessible. Casing shall not be used where it is liable to injury from weather or leakage of water.

58. Conduit.—No soft or fusible metal tubing shall be used to contain conductors, nor shall any tubing which is not water-tight be embedded in walls or plaster of floors. Where iron pipe or tube is used as a mechanical protection, it shall have an insulating lining, and proper joint boxes shall be used, and the pipe or tube shall be electrically continuous throughout its length.

59. External Conductors.—All external conductors shall be specially insulated and laid in lined iron pipes properly jointed and bushed, and of ample size. Proper joint boxes shall be used wherever joints occur in the conductors. In no case shall conductors belonging to any one of the different circuits A, B and C be run in the same barrel, or be carried through the same boxes. Such iron pipes shall be protected where necessary, and securely fixed and supported when not underground.

60. Stage Lighting.—(1) If the switch-board connections are made at the back of the board, there shall be a space of not less than 3 feet between the wall and the back of the board, or such larger space as may be necessary to ensure the thimbles and connections being at all times easily accessible, or, as an alternative provision shall be made, by hinging the board and placing it on rollers, for rendering the back of the board accessible without breaking the connections or dismounting the board. No metal work in connection with the circuits shall be exposed or so fixed or constructed as to be liable to cause a short circuit.

(2) Lamps or battens, footlights, etc., shall be protected by stiff wire guards, so arranged that no scenery or other inflammable material can come in contact with the lamps. No readily combustible material shall be used in connection with any lamps in such a manner that it might come in contact with the lamps. None but approved hard woods shall be used in connection with the lamps, and all wood shall be protected by incombustible material from the possibility of ignition by an arc between any two parts of the two conductors, or by heated particles from any conductor or part of a conductor.

(3) Where a number of lights, as in the footlights, battens, etc., are supplied under control of one switch, the conductors shall be maintained throughout of a section which has received the sanction of the Electrical Inspector.

(4) The leads to the battens shall be specially guarded, particularly at the points where they join on to the battens, and a sufficient length shall be allowed to prevent the leads from receiving any injury through any movement of the battens, and this part of the leads shall be protected by leather or stout waterproof canvas hose, properly fixed. The battens shall be suspended by at least three wire ropes attached to insulators on the battens. On no account shall the same battens be adapted for both gas and electric light. All wall sockets and plugs shall be of approved and of specially substantial construction.

61. Arc Lamps.—Arc lamps shall not be used inside such premises without special permission, and, when used, special precautions shall be taken to guard against danger from falling glass or incandescent particles of carbon. All parts of the lamps, lanterns and fittings which are liable to be handled (except by the persons employed to trim them) shall be insulated from the frame-work. In no case shall arc lamps be suspended by the conductors.

62. Resistances.—Resistances for regulating the power of lights or motors or for other purposes shall be mounted on incombustible bases, and shall be so protected and placed at such a distance from any combustible material that no part of the resistance, if broken, can fall on such material, or vice versa. Liquid resistances shall be provided with proper trays and stands.

63. Insulation Resistance.—The insulation resistance of a system of distribution shall be such that the greatest leakage from any conductor to earth, when all branches are switched on, shall not exceed $\frac{1}{10,000}$th part of the total current intended for the supply of the said lamps and motors, the test being made at the usual working E.M.F.:

Provided that this by-law shall not be held to justify a lower insulation resistance than 10,000 ohms.

64. Supervision.—The switching gear shall be in the hands of thoroughly competent manipulators.

65. Motors, etc.—Motors shall, if permitted, be subject to special conditions, but electric fans and similar motors not taking more than 300 watts may be used if separately wired from fuses on a proper distributing board.

66. Plan of Wiring.—A plan of the wiring shall be always kept in a prominent position in the office of the manager of such premises, and shall be corrected as often as may be necessary to keep it up to date.

B.—TEMPORARY INSTALLATIONS.

67. (1) When it is desired to instal a temporary installation, notice must be given to the Chairman in writing.

(2) All conductors shall be adequitely fixed, and shall be similar to the conductors already specified in these by-laws, and in all cases where they are within reach of the public they shall be cased.

(3) All joints shall be soldered if to be used for more than one week; and if to be used for less than a week, if larger than 7-20 S. W. G., they shall be soldered. In either case the joints shall be insulated and protected:

Provided that joints may be made in suitable and approved joint boxes if desired by the owner, in preference to the method laid down in sub clause (3) above.

(4) The circuits shall be divided, as much as possible, no sub-circuit exceeding 10 amperes, and shall be protected by a fuse on each pole and a switch on one pole.

(5) In the case of portable lighting on the stage, all connections to the installation shall be removed immediately after such performance in which they are used.

(6) Such special conditions as may be requisite in each individual case shall be attached to the consent of the Chairman to the use of temporary electrical work.

(7) All temporary work shall be removed when no longer required for the purpose for which sanction was originally given, and no temporary installation shall remain in use for a longer period than four months.

(8) Lighting on the stage within the capacity of the permanent installation shall not be considered temporary lighting within the meaning of this by-law.

GENERAL.

68. All work generally shall be in strict accordance with the rules of the Institution of Electrical Engineers of Great Britain when not otherwise specified in these by-laws.

69. Should any installation be found by the Chairman to be in a dangerous condition, he may prohibit its further use until the faults have been rectified, and it shall not be used until such rectification has been made.

70. At least one bucket filled with dry sand must be kept in some accessible position on the stage, and one must also be kept in each of the intake rooms for use in dealing with an electric fire.

NOTE.—Nothing in these by-laws can render inoperative the rules of a supply company affecting consumers connected to their system, nor relieve owners or occupiers from the provisions of the Indian Electricity Act, III of 1908.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

No. 187 T., dated the 21st July, 1908.

THE following further Report of the Select Committee on the Bengal Local Self-Government (Amendment) Bill, together with the Bill as amended by the Committee, is, by order of the President, published for general information:—

THE BENGAL LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1908.

FURTHER REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE.

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to whom the Bengal Local Self-Government (Amendment) Bill, 1907, was re-committed, have incorporated in the Bill the provisions framed by the Government relating to (1) the prevention of the diversion of the road-cess and (2) sanitation, and have the honour to submit this, our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed hereto.

2. The provisions for preventing the diversion of the road-cess are contained in clauses 25(3), 26(1a), (5), 26A, 59(4) [sub-clause (h2)] and 64 of the annexed Bill, and those relating to sanitation are contained in clauses 42A, 53 (sections 115 to 118C) and 59 (8a) and (11). For ready reference, these clauses are marked, in the Bill, with lines.

3. In the first group of provisions we have made slight alterations in the Government draft of clauses 26 (5), 59(4) [sub-clause (h2)] and 64 [sub-clause (c)].

4. In the second group of provisions, relating to sanitation, we have made the following alterations on points of substance:—

(1) In sub-section (1) of the new section 116, we have given power to Union Committees to cause privies to be removed, and to cause private drains to be constructed, altered or removed. Privies are often erected by the side of tanks, and their retention in such a position necessarily leads to the fouling of the water.

(2) We have restricted sub-sections (2), (3) and (4) of the same section (which empower Union Committees to require work to be done by owners or occupiers) to the removal of huts or privies and the construction, alteration and removal of private drains. We consider that the other improvements authorised by sub-section (1) should be carried out by the Committees themselves, since they are of a public character, without calling upon owners or occupiers in the first instance to undertake the work.

(3) We have inserted a section (118AA) giving powers of entry for the purpose of making inspections or executing work under the new provisions.

(4) We have altered section 118B so as to declare that an assessment for the purpose of providing extra funds for meeting the cost of executing work under the new provisions shall not be imposed unless it is authorised by a resolution passed at a special meeting by the votes of not less than two-thirds of the members of the Union Committee.

(5) We have also revised the same section so as to declare in more precise terms what portions of the Village-chaukidari Act, 1870, or the Chota Nagpur Rural Police Act, 1887, as the case may be, are to apply to this assessment.

(6) We have also altered sub-section (2) of the same section so as to declare that the amount to be assessed on any one person shall not exceed seven rupees per mensem, and that the assessment may be made payable either in a lump sum or in periodical instalments.

(7) In section 118C we have reduced from six to three months the time allowed for an appeal from an order of the Union Committee under the new provisions, and have substituted a sub-committee of the District Board for the Magistrate, as the appellate authority.

5. We recommend that the Bill, as now amended, be circulated for opinion, and that an early date should be appointed for the submission of opinions, to admit of the Bill being passed during the present session.

I SIGN this Report subject to the following note of dissent :—

NOTE OF DISSENT.

For the purpose of promoting rural sanitation, the imposition of a special tax has been provided in section 11B under clause 53 of the Bill. The tax is to be levied from "owners and occupiers of the property" within the Union, and in this respect the method of assessment is essentially at variance with that provided in the Village-Chaukidari Act, 1870, and the Chota Nagpore Police Act, 1887, though the Bill as regards the levy of the tax professes to follow those enactments. Those Acts render the owners or occupiers of houses and persons having kutcheries for collecting rents liable to assessment—see section 14 of the Village-Chaukidari Act, and section 7 of the Chota Nagpore Police Act. The use of the word "property" in the Bill (section 118B) instead of "houses" and "kutcheries" as in the aforesaid Acts materially enlarges the scope of the special tax so far as the assessees are concerned, making it co-extensive with the road cess. Reading the portion of the Bill dealing with Unions, as a whole, I venture to think that this is not intended.

In the case of a tax on persons according to their circumstances and property for the sanitary welfare of limited areas, I would prefer to follow the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, which makes such a tax leviable from occupiers only—see section 98 of that Act.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 10th July, 1908 :

No. 7 of 1908.

A Bill to amend the Assam Labour and Emigration Act, 1901.

1901. WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Assam Labour and Emigration Act, 1901 ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Assam Labour and Emigration (Amendment) Act, 1908.

Substitution of new section for section 91, Act VI, 1901. 2. For section 91 of the Assam Labour and Emigration Act, 1901, the following shall be substituted, namely :—

Power to Local Government to relax certain provisions of Act. "91. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 90, the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, declare that—

(a) in the case of contractors, sub-contractors and recruiters holding licenses granted under Chapter III, any of the requirements of that Chapter, or,

(b) in the case of garden-sardars holding certificates granted under Chapter IV or holding permits granted and countersigned under section 90, any of the requirements of that Chapter or of that section, as the case may be,

may be dispensed with or relaxed on such conditions as may be prescribed in the notification."

Substitution of new section for section 218, Act VI of 1901. 3. For section 218 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely :—

Application of proceeds of fines, fees and rates. "218. The proceeds of any fines, fees and rates under this Act which may be credited to Government shall be expended, in such manner as the Governor General in Council may direct, on paying the salaries and allowances of officers appointed under this Act and their pensionary and leave allowances, on meeting the cost of sending labourers and other persons back to their native districts, and generally on defraying the expenses of carrying out the purposes and objects of this Act and any rules made thereunder, and not otherwise."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN view of the proposed withdrawal from the districts of the Surma Valley and from the districts of Kamrup and Goalpara of the chief provisions of the Assam Labour and Emigration Act, 1901 (VI of 1901), relating to labour-districts, it is desired to amend the procedure prescribed by the Act for the recruitment of labourers, so as to dispense with the taking of contracts in the case of emigrants proceeding to these districts. Provision is at the same time proposed to be made for giving a trial to the system of free recruitment by garden-sardars. With these objects clause 2 of the Bill re-enacts section 91 of the Act so as to enable Local Governments by notification to dispense with or relax any of the provisions of Chapters III and IV of the Act, subject to any conditions that may be prescribed in the notification. The clause has been made general in order that the new procedure may be applied hereafter, if considered expedient, to other labour-districts besides those referred to above.

2. Clause 3 of the Bill is intended to permit of the fees and fines realized under the Act being dealt with in the provincial accounts. The amendment of section 218 which it is proposed to make will admit of the deficits of one province being met from the surplus in another province, and, as the expenditure of the receipts is restricted to the purposes specified, it will enable Government to apply any surplus which may accrue after these purposes have been carried out towards the reduction of annual rate or the registration fees.

(b) after the word "lawful" the words "and may apportion their respective duties" shall be inserted; and (c) for the word "him" the word "them" shall be substituted.

"(pp) to prescribe the person by whom any doubt or dispute referred to in section 6A shall be determined and the procedure to be followed and the proof to be required in such cases; and".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

ATTENTION was recently drawn to a case in which certain Portuguese native subjects of Damaun were refused permission to embark from the port of Bombay under engagement to work in Lourenço Marques, to which country emigration is not lawful under section 8 (1) of the Indian Emigration Act, 1883. The refusal was based on the ground that the term "native of India" in the Act included native subjects of foreign settlements. It is considered desirable to remedy the anomalous state of the law under which subjects of a friendly Power may be subjected to vexatious restrictions under the terms of an Act designed for the protection of British Indian subjects. With this object clause 2 of the Bill defines the term "India" so as to exclude from its meaning all foreign settlements in that country. The clause will permit of the embarkation of native subjects of foreign Powers from British Indian ports under circumstances such as those in the case referred to. It will also enable them, notwithstanding anything in section 105 of the Act, to depart by land out of British India for the purpose of entering into an agreement to labour for hire in any country beyond the sea. Clauses 4 and 6 of the Bill are enacted with a view to a provision being made by rule against possible evasions of the Act by British Indians under pretence of being foreign subjects. Clause 3 is a necessary complement of clause 4.

2. It is further proposed to take this opportunity to amend section 18 of the Act so as to enable Local Governments to appoint one or more Medical Inspectors. The existing provision which permits the appointment of only one Inspector has been found defective in that it does not take into account the possibility of the Inspector being unavoidably absent at the time when medical examination of emigrants has to take place. Clause 5 of the Bill effects this object.

BAY OF BENGAL—HUGHLI RIVER APPROACH.

General Instructions.

No. 271 (third publication).—The following "directions" are laid down for guidan ce of masters of vessels, pilots and others in supersession of the instructions on pages 215, 216 and 217 of the third edition of the Bay of Bengal Pilot, 1901, and Bengal Government Notice No. 257, dated 6th July 1905 :—

Steam pilot vessels—Cruising station, Sandheads.

The steam pilot vessels are three-masted vessels painted white with yellow funnel.

On an inward-bound vessel being sighted, a square blue flag is hoisted at the main when the pilot vessel is underweigh; if the pilot vessel is at anchor, in addition a blue pennant is hoisted at the mizzen; at night the Regulation lights for steam pilot vessels are exhibited, also a flare up is shown.

During the south-west monsoon the steam pilot vessels cruize about 8 miles south to south-west of the Eastern Channel light in very strong winds and heavy sea about 10 miles. During the north-east monsoon they cruize or anchor about 2 to 3 miles S. by W. to S.W. of the Eastern Channel light vessel.

Pilotage is compulsory for all merchant vessels over 100 tons. If a pilot is not taken at the cruising station considerable loss of time is likely to occur before obtaining one on theriver.

Approach—Directions.—Steam vessels arriving at the Sandheads and finding the steam pilot vessel, at the station, should close with her and lie to about 300 yards distant, under her stern, in the same direction the steam pilot vessel is heading, and in such a manner as to make a lee for the pilot boat, when a pilot will be supplied.

To avoid delay, approaching steam vessels at night should, when about half-a-mile off the steam pilot vessel, indicate their gross tonnage by the following steam whistle signals:—

Over 3,400	tons gross	...	One short blast.
Between 2,800 and 3,400	,,	...	Two short blasts.
,, 1,800 and 2,800	,,	...	Three short blasts.
Under 1,800	,,	...	Four short blasts.

Sailing vessels should signal net tonnage.

Sailing vessels should make the pilot station signal for a pilot, and on the approach of the steam pilot vessel heave to, and a pilot will then be sent.

During bad weather when boating is not safe, or when there are no pilots available, the steam pilot vessels during the day will not show the square blue flag at the main, and at night will not exhibit the Regulation lights or flare up for a steam pilot vessel.

Sailing vessels should not run on the station at night or in threatening weather.

The steam pilot vessels are in telegraphic communication (wireless) with Calcutta; the necessary forms can be obtained from the pilot boat.

In August, September and October, no pilots being available, sailing vessels are signalled to keep to windward; in this case it is advisable to keep the Eastern Channel light vessel well in sight, drop a kedge if wind falls light to prevent drifting off the station.

Caution—Should it be necessary when approaching the Sandheads to anchor from any cause, if possible anchor outside a line joining Eastern Channel and Mutlah light vessels, in not less than 15 fathoms mud.

A vessel will ride easier and bring less strain on her cable if anchored in depths of 15 to 20 fathoms than in less depths, especially in an estuary. In the greater depths the cable, with a good scope of chain, is never quite taut, therefore not so liable to part; the sea has less force than in shoal water.

RESOLUTION ON THE TRIENNIAL REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE CHARITABLE DISPENSARIES IN BENGAL AND THE CALCUTTA MEDICAL INSTITUTIONS FOR THE YEARS 1905, 1906 AND 1907.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL.

Calcutta, the 11th July 1908.

RESOLUTION No. 1182Medl.

READ—

The Triennial Report on the working of the Charitable Dispensaries in Bengal and the Calcutta Medical Institutions for the years 1905, 1906 and 1907.

Read also—

The Triennial Report for the years 1902, 1903 and 1904 and the Resolution recorded thereon.

The present report is submitted by Colonel R. Macrae, I.M.S., who succeeded Colonel S. H. Browne, I.M.S., as Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal, in September 1905. During Colonel Macrae's absence on leave from May to December 1906, Colonel A. M. Crofts, I.M.S., officiated as Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals.

2. The opening paragraphs of the report deal with the administrative changes that have taken place during the three years under review. The most important of these was the partition of the Province, which resulted in the transfer of 14 districts, with their medical charges and institutions, to the new Province of Eastern Bengal and Assam, and the transfer of Sambalpur from the Central Provinces to Bengal. The emoluments of the officers of the Indian Medical Service were improved; and promotion from the rank of Captain to that of Major was accelerated on certain conditions. A scheme for affording practical teaching in the use of the X-ray apparatus was introduced; and Medical officers desiring to acquire this instruction have been allowed to go through a course of training at the institute established at Dehra Dun for the purpose. Two Indian Medical Service officers, two Military Assistant Surgeons and five Civil Assistant Surgeons in this Province availed themselves of the privilege. Changes have been made in the curriculum of the Medical College, Calcutta, to adapt it to the requirements of the new University Regulations; and the creation of a separate chair of Biology has been sanctioned since the close of the period. The Lieutenant-Governor shares with Colonel Macrae the regret expressed by him at the loss which the service has sustained by the death and retirement of some of the ablest and most experienced of the Commissioned Medical officers.

3. Calcutta Hospitals and Dispensaries.—The triennium has been specially remarkable for the comprehensive reforms carried out in the chief medical institutions in Calcutta. Far-reaching improvements were effected in the Presidency General, Medical College and Campbell Hospitals at a heavy cost, in respect of buildings, furniture, surgical instruments and appliances, beds and bedding, nursing establishment and other matters tending to the comfort of the patients and the efficiency of the institutions. A few of the more important items can only be mentioned here. At the Presidency General Hospital the new paying patients' ward has been completed at a cost of Rs. 2,64,364, and will shortly be fully equipped and ready for occupation. An administrative block was constructed at a cost of Rs. 50,884; and the surroundings of the hospital were improved by the acquisition of further land and the filling in of insanitary tanks at a cost of nearly Rs. 50,000. The total cost to Government of the many improvements and reforms effected at the Medical College Hospital is estimated at Rs. 6,51,572. These include the construction of a large new surgical block (Rs. 2,81,441), the construction of quarters for the nurses of both the Eden and the Medical College Hospitals (Rs. 1,79,434), the paving of the wards with marble (Rs. 56,307) and the installation of electric lights and fans (Rs. 22,816). Land was acquired by Government at a cost of Rs. 1,39,944 for the construction of three separate paying patients' wards for Indians. For the construction of the ward buildings, the thanks of Government and of the public are due to the generosity of Rai Bahadur Shib Proshad Jhoonjhoonwala, Babu Hari Das Goculdas and Mr. Musaji Ahmad Saliji, each of whom has given a very handsome donation of Rs. 30,000 for the purpose. With the generous contribution of Rs. 90,000 received through His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, various improvements have been carried out at the Medical College and connected hospitals. At the Campbell Hospital, the improvements effected include the construction of a single-storeyed ward for male patients, the remodelling of the central portion of the old main building, and the erection of a new two-storeyed ward, at an aggregate cost of Rs. 1,72,878, besides numerous minor improvements at an aggregate cost of Rs. 32,685. The large area known as Haritola basti adjoining the hospital has been acquired at a cost of Rs. 1,17,442; and a scheme for utilizing the site in the expansion of the hospital, the erection of a hostel for students' quarters and other buildings is under consideration. The Chandney Hospital, which is an adjunct of the Mayo Hospital and affords medical relief to the largest number of out-patients, has hitherto been located in an antiquated building of inappropriate type. Steps are now being taken, with the assistance of a grant from Government, to erect a new and suitable building on another site that has been acquired for the purpose. At the Sambhu Nath Pandit Hospital, quarters for nurses were completed, and a site for a new surgical ward was acquired by Government at a cost of Rs. 16,181; and it is hoped that before long the balance of the money required for the construction of the ward, towards which Rs. 10,000 have already been contributed from the proceeds of the Minto Fête, will be forthcoming from the Indian public, for whose benefit this hospital chiefly exists. At the Howrah General Hospital, besides many improvements carried out by Government at a cost of Rs. 78,409, a new ward for Indian patients is being constructed with the sum of Rs. 25,000 bequeathed by the late Babu Debi Prosad.

4. The Inspector-General notices that while the nursing in the Calcutta hospitals has considerably improved of recent years, there is still much room for further improvement. The whole subject of the arrangements for nursing in Calcutta and in the mufassal is now under the consideration of the Lieutenant-Governor, with a view to placing them upon a more suitable and efficient basis.

5. The average yearly number of in-door patients treated in all the Calcutta hospitals during the triennium was 28,231, against 27,598 and 26,269 the averages of the two previous three year periods. The increase was shared by all the hospitals, and was most marked in the Medical College, Sambhu Nath Pandit and Dufferin Victoria Hospitals. The accommodation for in-patients was ample in all, except the Sambhu Nath Pandit Hospital, where there was some overcrowding. All possible arrangements, however, were made to receive the increased number of patients. The average annual number of out-door patients treated in the hospitals was 275,970, against 267,776 in the previous triennium. The largest number was, as usual, treated at the Chandney Hospital, where the aggregate for the triennium was 136,381. Next in order come the Medical College, Sambhu Nath Pandit, Campbell and Mayo Hospitals, with aggregates of 123,739, 81,895, 80,479 and 76,972, respectively.

6. The total annual income of the Calcutta hospitals, excluding the Police Hospital and the Dockyard Dispensary, was Rs. 11,79,702 in 1905, Rs. 14,48,158 in 1906 and Rs. 18,40,103 in 1907. The figures for 1905 include the handsome donation of Rs. 1,00,000 received from the Hon'ble Maharaja Sir Rameshwar Singh Bahadur through His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, of which Rs. 90,000 went to the Medical College Hospital and Rs. 10,000 to the Dufferin Victoria Hospital. The figures for 1907 include a contribution of Rs. 1,40,000 from the Minto Fête Fund, which was distributed as follows:—Medical College Hospital, Rs. 20,000; Presidency General Hospital, Rs. 20,000; Campbell Hospital, Rs. 40,000; Sambhu Nath Pandit Hospital, Rs. 10,000; Mayo Hospital, Rs. 25,000; and the Dufferin Victoria Hospital, Rs. 25,000. The total amount received from paying patients during the same period was Rs. 2.89,861, against Rs. 2,55,315 collected in the previous triennium. A satisfactory increase occurred in the sum raised by private subscriptions, which amounted to Rs. 1,81,874, against Rs. 82,004 in the previous period. Sir Andrew Fraser takes this opportunity of placing on record his appreciation of the service rendered by Mrs. D. King, through whose efforts large sums were collected on different occasions and devoted to the provision of comforts and conveniences at the hospitals. The Lieutenant-Governor shares the regret expressed by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals at the comparatively small amount contributed by the Corporation of Calcutta towards the maintenance of the medical institutions in the City, and he hopes that the Commissioners may yet be induced to recognise their further responsibility in this respect. The latest figures available go to show that while the mufassal Municipalities in this Province have during the last three years contributed on the average more than 22 per cent. of the total cost of the medical institutions maintained within their limits, the Corporation has during the same period provided between 3 and 4 per cent. only of the cost of the institutions in Calcutta.

7. Charitable Dispensaries outside Calcutta.—In consequence of the partition of Bengal, 299 dispensaries were transferred to the new Province of Eastern Bengal and Assam, while 16 dispensaries from the Central Provinces were taken over with the district of Sambalpur. During the triennium 41 new dispensaries were opened, and 5 old ones were closed. The net result at the close of the year 1907 was 587 dispensaries in operation, of which 66 were Government institutions, 64 railway, 266 local fund, 45 private aided and 146 private non-aided dispensaries. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, that the system of deputing medical officers in charge of dispensaries to visit outlying market centres for the purpose of affording medical relief might with advantage be more extensively adopted.

8. Particulars in regard to the number of indoor patients treated are given only for classes I (State public), III (local funds), and IV (private aided dispensaries. In these the average number treated during the triennium was 60,796, the highest figures being attained in the Bankipore and Berhampore Hospitals. Of the total number of patients treated, an average of only 12·72 per cent. paid for their own food, which shows that no advance was made in this respect as compared with the percentage of 13·93 which was reached in 1904. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to emphasize the remarks recorded on this subject in the Resolution on the last triennial report. The record of attendance of outdoor patients is one of steady progress, the figures for 1907 showing an increase of 22·38 per cent. on the figures for 1904; and there is every indication of the growing popularity of these institutions. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with pleasure the account given in paragraph 40 of the report of the increased popularity of certain individual dispensaries, which must be largely attributed to the efforts of the local medical officers.

9. As usual, malarial fever and allied complaints accounted for the largest number of admissions, the figures being 1,072,854 in 1907, against 915,410 in 1905. The action that is being taken by Government with a view to checking the ravages of malaria in this Province has already been explained in the Resolution on the Sanitary Commissioner's Report for 1907. Skin diseases and diseases of the eye show 552,896 and 163,127 admissions, repectively, in 1907, as compared with 476,895 and 146,934 in 1905; while no less than 335,268 persons were treated for intestinal worms in 1907, against 275,006 in 1905. The number of cholera patients brought to the dispensaries increased from 9,722 to 12,984 in the same period; but the number of plague and small-pox cases so treated continued to be very small. One of the most satisfactory features of the returns is the marked increase in the number of female patients that availed themselves of treatment at the dispensaries, the number in the past year being 18·67 per cent. higher than in 1904. This rise is no doubt due in large measure to the steps taken during the last few years to provide separate treatment for females. There is still much to be done in many dispensaries to improve the arrangements in this respect; and the Lieutenant-Governor desires that continued attention should be paid to the subject.

10. The financial position of the dispensaries during the triennium was satisfactory. The average annual income of the institutions in Classes I, III and IV was Rs. 11,80,907. Grants aggregating Rs. 5,29,877 were given by Government during the three years under review. These were utilized in the construction of new hospital buildings and the purchase of equipment. Grants were also given in many cases for specific works of improvement by the Divisional Commissioners from the allotments placed at their disposal by Government. The contributions from local funds were on the whole liberal, and testify to the increasing interest taken by local bodies, both Municipalities and District Boards, in the dispensaries under their charge. Several donations from private persons were also received; and the acknowledgments of Government are due to these gentlemen for their liberality and public spirit.

11. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Colonel Macrae for his interesting report, and for his efficient administration of the Department during the triennium.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. A. OLDHAM,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION REVIEWING THE REPORTS ON THE WORKING OF THE PURI LODGING-HOUSE ACT DURING THE YEAR 1907-1908.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—SANITATION.

Calcutta, the 18th July 1908.

RESOLUTION—No. 1233San.

During the year 1907-08 the operation of the Lodging-House Act was withdrawn from the towns of Midnapore and Garhbeta, as almost all pilgrims now travel by the railway, and do not stop in these two places. The by-laws in force in the districts of the Orissa Division were revised with effect from the 1st of November 1907. Since the close of the year an Act has been passed to amend the Lodging-House Act, in order to provide further funds for the sanitation of towns frequented by pilgrims, to prevent overcrowding in lodging-houses and to remove certain minor defects which the practical working of the Act has disclosed.

2. The number of licensed lodging-houses fell from 1,759 in 1906-07 to 1,746 in 1907-08, although the number of persons for whom accommodation was provided rose from 66,322 to 66,818. In Nadia and Naihati, however, there was an increase of 27 and 35, respectively, in the number of houses licensed. In both these towns there was an increase in the number of pilgrims, due to the Ardhoday Yog festival, which took place on the 2nd February 1908. In the town of Puri, 89 licenses were suspended during the year for disobedience of orders issued in respect of the sanitary condition of the lodging-houses; but in most cases the order was subsequently withdrawn on the lodging-house-keepers complying with the requisitions of the Health Officer. The attendance during the Rath Jatra was smaller than in the previous year, only 51,743 pilgrims having visited the town, as compared with 70,000 in 1906-07.

3. Four hundred and eight cases were disposed of under the Act during the year, against 302 in the previous year. The number of persons convicted was 383, against 267 in 1906-07. The amount of fines realized rose from Rs. 4,461 to Rs. 5,933-12.

4. The total income of the Lodging-House funds during the year (excluding the opening balance of Rs. 67,955-2-5) was Rs. 83,008-10, as compared with Rs. 83,524-0-9 in 1906-07. The income of the Deoghar Lodging-House fund fell from Rs. 10,264 to Rs. 7,297. There was an increase in the receipts at Nadia and Naihati. In the former case the income amounted to Rs. 3,127-4 (including a special Government grant of Rs. 600 for sanitary arrangements in connexion with the Yog festival), against Rs. 2,097-8-9 in the previous year; and in the latter it was Rs. 2,066-8 (including a Government grant of Rs. 500 for the above purpose), against Rs. 500-8. The increase is principally due to the larger attendance of pilgrims on the occasion of the Yog festival. The chuttics on the Jagannath Road in Cuttack and Balasore show a marked increase in receipts, due to the settlement of road-side lands by auction at higher rates.

5. The total expenditure of the Lodging-House funds rose from Rs. 44,218 in 1906-07 to Rs. 90,768 in 1907-08. The increase was almost entirely due to the large contribution of Rs. 37,500 given by the Gaya Lodging-House Committee towards the local water-works scheme. There were slight increases in expenditure at Nadia and Naihati, due to the special sanitary arrangements that had to be made for the influx of pilgrims on the occasion of the Ardhoday Yog festival. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice that, taking into account the invested balance, about half-a-lakh of rupees will be available from the Puri fund as a contribution towards the cost of the drainage and water-works schemes of that town, which have received the approval of Government.

6. The health of the pilgrims was on the whole fair. Outbreaks of cholera occurred at Gaya and Puri, but these were not so serious as in the preceding year. In the former town the number of deaths reported from this cause was 93 against 228, and in the latter 256 against 400 in 1906-07. The total mortality among the pilgrims during the year was 636, as compared with 1,208 in the preceding year. Plague was prevalent in Gaya, but not a single pilgrim died of the disease. It also appeared in Deoghar, but only one death is attributed to this cause. In Puri there were 84 deaths from dysentery and 63 from fever. The sanitary arrangements of the lodging-houses were generally satisfactory, and the water-supply was good and sufficient throughout the year.

7. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to the District Officers and Health Officers concerned for the successful working of the Act during the year.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be submitted to the Government of India in the Home Department, and that copies be forwarded to the Commissioners of the Burdwan, Presidency, Patna, Bhagalpur and Orissa Divisions, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the Resolution be communicated to the Sanitary Commissioner and to the Sanitary Board, Bengal, for information, and that it be published in the Calcutta Gazette for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. A. OLDHAM,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RETURN OF JOINT-STOCK COMPANIES FOR THE YEAR 1907-1908.

No. 5T., dated Darjeeling, the 29th May 1908.

From—Syud Mahomed, Khan Bahadur, Inspector-General of Registration, Bengal,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

I have the honour to forward, in original, the report submitted by the Registrar of Companies, Bengal, on the working of the Indian Companies Act VI of 1882 for the year 1907-08, with the ten tabular statements prescribed by the Government of India.

No. 38, dated Calcutta, the 25th May 1908.

From—Maulvi Syud Abdus Salam, Registrar of Companies, Bengal,

To—The Inspector-General of Registration, Bengal.

I have the honour to submit the following report on the working of the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, in Bengal for the year 1907-08, together with ten tabulated statements in the forms prescribed by the Government of India.

2. Rai Behari Lal Chandra Bahadur, my predecessor, retired from the service in the afternoon of the 30th April 1907, when I relieved him, and since then I held charge of the office of Registrar for the remainder of the year.

3. From Statement No. 1 it will be seen that 512 Companies in all worked with an aggregate nominal capital of Rs. 36,30,64,209 and an aggregate paid-up capital of Rs. 20,54,65,731 till the close of the year against 446 Companies with a nominal capital of Rs. 26,03,56,709 and a paid-up capital of Rs. 17,51,04,519 in the previous year. There was thus an increase of 66 Companies, and that of Rs. 10,27,07,500 in the nominal capital and Rs. 3,00,61,212 in the paid-up capital during the year under report. One Company, namely National Stores, Limited, with a nominal capital of Rs. 1,00,000 was transferred to the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies of Eastern Bengal and Assam under the order of the Government of Bengal, Nos. 1380-81P.—D., dated the 11th July 1906.

3. The number of Companies registered during the year under report was 80, and their total nominal capital and paid-up capital were Rs. 7,47,00,000, and Rs. 13,61,895 respectively. In the number of Companies referred to the largest number (48) came out under the classification, Coal Companies, against 20 under the same category in the previous year. The increase is due to larger profit, accrued in the speculation. Trading Companies (14) came out next. Last year there were 32 Trading Companies. The increase in Coal Companies accounts for the decrease in Trading Companies during the year.

4. The most important of the Banking Companies registered during the year is the Hindusthan, Bank, Limited, with a nominal capital of Rs. 2 crores. The Hindusthan Co-operative Insurance Society, Limited, comes under the head of Insurance-companies with a nominal capital of Rs 1 crore. One Native Provident Society, viz., Swadeshi Assurance and Wedding Company, Limited, with a nominal capital of Rs. 10,000 was registered during the year.

5. Statement No. III shows that 5 Companies limited by guarantee were registered during the year.

6. One hundred and seven Companies increased their capital during the year. This accounts for the healthy and prosperous state of the Companies. Of these, 2 Companies increased their nominal capital, 93 Companies increased their paid-up capital, and 12 Companies increased both their nominal and paid-up capital.

7. There was no reduction made in the capital of any Company during the year.

8. Thirteen Companies having an aggregate nominal capital of Rs. 35,42,500 and a paid-up capital of Rs. 22,68,248 wound up their business during the year. One Company which went into liquidation in the previous year has submitted its final report during the year.

9. The total number of Companies limited by guarantee, which worked till the close of the year, was 15 as shown in Statement No. IX.

10. The following Societies were registered during the year under Act XXI of 1860 :—

(1) J. M. Training School.

(2) Society of St. Vincent de Paul.

(3) Calcutta Historical Society.

(4) The Calcutta Homœopathic College.

(5) Anglo-Indian Association.

(6) Lady Minto's Indian Nursing Association.

(7) Arrah Nagri Procharini Sabha.

11. The fees realized during the year amounted to Rs. 32,658-2 against Rs. 22,262-12 and the expenditure amounted to Rs. 1,028-11-4 against Rs. 983 in the past year, the nett revenue therefore is Rs. 31,629-6-8 to the credit of Government against Rs. 21,279-12 in the previous year. The increase in fees is due to increase in registration and to the large nominal capital.

12. The provisions of section 69 of the Act were complied with almost everywhere as far as it could be ascertained.

13. The provisions of Act IV of 1900 (the Indian Companies Branch Registers Act) were not availed of by any of the Companies.

14. The operations during the year were satisfactory showing an increase in registration, in receipts, as also in surplus, to Government.

* The report is for the week ending the 11th July 1908.

General Summary.—The rainfall during the week was heavy in the Burdwan and Chota Nagpur Divisions and also in the 24-Parganas, Champaran, Darbhanga, Purnea, Darjeeling, Sambalpur and Cooch Behar, and elsewhere generally light. The recent rainfall in Bihar has much benefited the standing crops and facilitated sowing of bhadoi crops and transplanting of paddy. More rain is still wanted in Patna, Gaya, Shahabad, Bhagalpur and Purnea. Transplantation of winter rice is in progress throughout the Province. Weeding of jute is going on. Sugarcane is doing well. Condition of the jute crop on the low lands in most districts of the Presidency Division is not favourable owing to recent heavy rainfall. Continued rain has hindered agricultural operations in the Sadar subdivision of the Sambalpur district, where some damage has been done to cotton plants by caterpillars. The price of common rice has risen in the 24-Parganas, Nadia, Muzaffarpur, the Sonthal Parganas, Puri and Hazaribagh; fallen in Hooghly, Patna, Saran and Balasore, and is stationary in the remaining districts. Stocks of food-grains are insufficient in Nadia, Murshidabad, Balasore and Palamau. Fodder and water supply is sufficient. Cattle-disease is reported from Jessore, Shahabad, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh, Ranchi, Palamau and Manbhum. Gratuitous relief was given to 26,100 persons, of whom 15,162 were in Orissa. The number of persons on test-works in Bankura, Nadia, Jessore, Cuttack, Balasore, Angul, Puri, Hazaribagh and Ranchi was 14,308, and the number of famine relief-works in Ranchi was 4,722.
